CHALLENGE IS SENT LEAGUE BY JAPANESE

that if it were proper to admit an American, whose government is not a league member, the same privilege might be asked by Soviet Russia. The Soviet attitude on the Manchurian crisis, in view of its interest in Siberia, has been a matter of open anxiety to Japan and China.

Yoshihara was instructed further to attend all sessions of the council. Authorities here anticipated that the league first would attempt to induce China and Japan to negotiate terms for the evacuation of Japanese troops, after which a diplomatic settlement of the general Manchurian situation would begin.

Takie continues to insist that the Kellogg anti-war treaty is inapplicable to the present case since Japan already has pledged that it will not resort to war under any circumstances.

In the latest exodus of Chinese from Japan, 76 Chinese cooks deserted their posts and crippled more than a score of Japanese owned restaurants here.

AMERICAN SITS IN
GENEVA, Oct. 17.—(UP)—Chinese charges of Japanese bombing, mining and digging trenches in Manchuria were published here today while the league council considered the Manchurian conflict in a private session.

Two hundred men were reported killed in a battle with Mongolian bandits.

Prentiss Gilbert, American observed, attended the session but Japanese and Chinese delegates were not present.

Dr. Alfred Sze, Chinese delegation, made public a communication to the council containing the following charges against Japan:

Chinchow, provisional headquarters of Chank Hsueh-Liang in Manchuria, was bombed October 15. Japanese troops were entrenched about the city walls.

Japanese were reported mining a region near Chihlio and digging trenches in the district, also on October 15.

Colonel Wang, commanding the 40th Chinese regiment, reported that six Japanese airplanes bombed Chinese troops while they were engaged in repulsing an attack by Mongolian bandits. Two hundred were reported killed in the engagement. The bandits were repulsed after four hours.

Japanese airplanes dropped 20 bombs on Hsing-Lungstien. Japan was accused of constructing a 400 acre airport.

ARREST COUPLE FOR THEFT OF ATTACHE'S AUTO

A San Pedro nurse and a sailor were arrested near Laguna Beach last night, by California Highway Patrol Officers Clever and Craig and lodged in the county jail, booked on suspicion of grand theft.

The couple was found in a stolen Los Angeles car, officers reported, the car being the property of Dr. Pedro J. DeLarralde, Spanish attache to the United States army, at San Pedro, it was said.

The woman is Patsy Parker, 24, nurse, who is said to have told Officer Craig that she "borrowed" the doctor's car. The sailor is Winston P. Brown, 18, of San Diego. Another sailor also was in the car at the time, but was released when it was established that he had just been picked up by the other two persons.

The arrest was made after the state officers had stopped the machine for cutting in on another car. Discovering government license plates on the machine, questioning of the woman and the sailor revealed that the car was not theirs. There were no other means of identifying the car so Miss Parker and Brown were brought to jail.

The suspects were turned over to Los Angeles authorities today.

Children Awarded To Grandparents

Grandparents of children whose custody was sought by both father and mother in a divorce action here were winners after a hearing before Superior Judge James L. Allen yesterday. Pleta Sands had brought suit for divorce against Victor Sands, asking custody of the children, a boy and a girl.

The court awarded custody of the boy to the defendant's parents and custody of the girl to the plaintiff's parents. Sands was ordered to pay $3.50 a week toward the girl's support.

Parent Class To Meet At Willard

Dr. Percy R. Davis, superintendent of city schools, announced today that the morning class with Dr. Gertrude Laws in parental education will meet again next Tuesday in the Willard auditorium. This is contrary to the announcement made in the class last week, as it has been impossible to follow the plan outlined at that time.

TRAIN MERCHANT CADETS

When graduates of New York's Merchant Marine Academy begin their sea-going careers they will have had practical experience aboard the U. S. S. Empire State, which has been acquired from the U. S. Navy. Below, Capt. W. R. Sayles, U. S. N., is shown as he spoke at ceremonies celebrating the acquisition of the ship, seen in the background. Upper left, cadets of the academy are pictured as they were reviewed by Capt. J. H. Toml.

YOUTHS DEMAND HEAVY DAMAGES FOR CAR CRASH

Denver King, 618 North Artesia street, and Harlan Harrison, 1602 West Fourth street, both minors, launched damage suits in superior court yesterday against O. H. Egge and company, R. A. Diekly and others, seeking judgments for injuries received in an automobile accident at Eighth and Olive streets on January 5 in which they asserted their car was struck by one driven by Diekly while acting in the employ of the Egge concern.

Young King asked $15,000 damages for injuries while his mother, Mrs. Ada King, through whom he brought his suit, asked $197.50 for medical expenses and loss of earnings of her son.

Harrison asked $10,000 for injuries and his father, John Henry Harrison, asked $547 for the boy's medical expenses, loss of his earnings and for repair of the car in which the boys rode at the time of the crash. Young Harrison brought suit through his father.

DENY PROBATION TO CHECK ARTIST

Dale Medsker, 18 year old lad who pleaded guilty to a check charge and apparently sought to crash the gates of San Quentin, probably will spend his next birthday at the Preston School of Industry at Lone. Yesterday Superior Judge James L. Allen denied probation to the youth, who came here from Montana, and sentenced him to the lone school until he is 21. Medsker's birthday will be Tuesday. Medsker was dressed in a forestry service uniform when he arrived here. He told the court in detail when his first hearing was held, how he had written checks in several southwest states and sent the money back to Montana to pay his debts.

Poultry Breeders Pass Measures To Improve Industry

Resolutions dealing with egg grading and pullet development were acted upon by the representatives of the seven Southern California Counties Poultry association meeting all day yesterday at the Orange County Farm advisor's office here.

The state health department was asked to enforce rigid egg grading. The University of California was requested by resolution to begin a program of improvement in the poultry industry along the lines of breeding and to make a study of trouble met in pullet development. The annual election of officers was held. M. F. Donahue, of Ramona, was re-elected president, and R. D. Flaherty, of Santa Ana, was re-elected secretary.

INSURANCE MEN ORGANIZING COUNTY GROUP

Plans for a general meeting of insurance men to complete permanent organization of the Orange County Insurance Brokers' and Agents' association will be completed Monday night when E. M. Sundquist and H. P. Harrison, of Santa Ana, and Leonard West, of Fullerton, meet in Fullerton to select a meeting place in Santa Ana for the meeting to be held here October 26.

Organization of the association is in charge of a general committee headed by Frank Tausch, of Anaheim, with M. E. Beebe acting as chairman. Tausch and Beebe have been given the task of devising ways and means for forming the proposed organization.

Tausch recently appointed Sundquist, Harrison, R. G. Cartwright, all of Santa Ana; Beebe, Anaheim; West, Fullerton; Charles Dunn, Costa Mesa and George Thompson of Laguna Beach as members of a sub-committee with instructions to present at the meeting scheduled for October 26, a draft of proposed constitution and by-laws for adoption.

TWO DECREES ARE GRANTED BY COURT

Two interlocutory divorce decrees were granted yesterday by Superior Judge H. G. Ames, both in default cases. L. P. Barnhart was given a divorce from Edith D. Barnhart. He claimed that she used liquor and associated with other men. They were married in 1927 and separated on May 30.

Jessie Thomas was granted separation from Michael Thomas. She claimed that he quarreled over trivial matters such as radio programs. They were married in 1929 and separated in 1930.

Superior Judge James L. Allen ordered Clyde Cleo Daugherty to pay $40 a month to his wife, Beulah C. Daugherty, after a hearing in a divorce case brought by Mrs. Daugherty on grounds of cruelty.

PROBATION CALLS FOR JAIL TERMS

Lyn Rogers and Fred Mullins, who pleaded guilty to a charge of receiving stolen property, were granted probation by Superior Judge James L. Allen yesterday for a period of three years. They were given a county jail term of one year each, in addition, with the provision that they shall work at the county park.

Rogers and Mullins were accused of buying from Joe Johnson and Daniel D. Delaney eight drills and a cutting torch asserted to have been stolen from O. H. Egge, Santa Ana.

DAVID H. CLARK CASE IS GIVEN TO JURY TODAY

"and in order to justify the taking of life upon this ground it must not appear that the slayer had a reason to believe that he was in danger of his life, but it must also appear to his comprehension as a reasonable man that to avoid such danger it was absolutely necessary for him to take the life of the deceased."

"A person may legally and lawfully take the life of another when circumstances are sufficient to excite the fear of a reasonable man that he is about to receive great bodily injury or death at the hands of his assailant. It is not necessary that the danger be actual but it is enough if it be apparent."

"A person may lawfully act upon appearances, real or apparent, and such person will not be acting upon such appearances be held liable, even though it may later appear that the appearances upon which he acted were false and that he was not in actual peril."

There's a Long Journey Ahead of Him!

HERE is a little fellow starting on a long journey. How will he travel—in ease, because of splendid health, or handicapped by indifferent or poor health? The choice lies largely in your hands.

Now is the time to lay the foundation for that sturdy health that will help him to win through. He should have at least a quart of RAITT'S MILK every day.

The value of pure, rich, wholesome milk cannot be too strongly stressed when the welfare and health of growing children is to be considered—and, indeed, not only growing children, but adults as well.

Through no other food are you so sure of building sturdy bones and teeth and the energy to combat diseases, as through the unstinted use of MILK in the diet of the whole family.

Make the life-journey of your family safer by giving them lots of RAITT'S MILK.

At least a quart a day for every growing child.

At least a pint a day for adults.

There ARE Jobs for Men, and Trade for Merchants!

Harder to get, true, and there are new ways of getting them!

The day has gone when a man said, "I'm a carpenter; I'm a salesman; I'm a mechanic; I'm a clerk; I have good references, etc., etc!" and received attention in his quest for work.

The day has gone when a merchant said, "I have a store; I'm a local citizen; you owe it to your city to patronize me!" and so on.

These are times of a different flavor. There ARE jobs and there IS trade for merchants. But they're harder to get, and the methods of getting must be adapted to the spirit of the times.

There will be NO RETURNING to old methods, old standards of trade, or old status of an employee. Men and merchants should forget the past, START ALL OVER, study the motives that cause people to act TODAY, and get busy!—get busy!

It's here for you—but you've got to go out and get it!

DEATHS

A WORD OF COMFORT

Reach not back with the cumulative strength of memory for that which life has taken for this breeds bitterness.

Lay hold upon that which life has given that you may guard it well and nurture all its sweetness.

The love of your dear one has not been wrested from you; it abides for aye. The communion, which you cherish with the one you love, continues if you love what that one loves.

The only way you can lose touch with your dear one is by refusing to strive to fulfill the blessed will of him who withholds his summons for you while you finish what he has for you to do.

SHEARS—Near Newport Beach, October 17, 1931, Jack S. Shears, aged 37 years, Mr. Shears was a resident of 423 East Walnut street, Santa Ana, and leaves a wife, Mrs. Arca Shears, and three children, Mrs. Doris W. Cox, of Santa Ana. Notice of funeral will be given later by Smith and Tutthill.

(Funeral Notice) October 16, 1931, J. M. Griggs, aged 70 years. Funeral services will be held Monday at 3 p. m. from Smith and Tutthill's chapel. Services at the Fairhaven cemetery will be in charge of Santa Ana Lodge No. 236, I. O. O. F.

(Funeral Notice) October 16, 1931, Dorothy Louise Tucker, aged 4 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Tucker, of 301 West Third street. Funeral services will be held Monday at 10 a. m. from Smith and Tutthill's chapel.

MOYLE VISITS FRIENDS HERE AT AIRPORT

Santa Ana friends of Don Moyle, aviator who recently gained fame through an attempted non-stop flight from Japan to Seattle, Wash., which almost ended in tragedy when Moyle and his companion, Cecil Allen, both former Santa Anans, were forced to land on a barren island in the Aleutians, greeted him Thursday when he dropped in at the Eddie Martin airport.

Moyle who had his first lessons in flying at the field south of Santa Ana, arrived unexpectedly at the airport for a brief visit with old friends there. He said he was trying out a plane and thought it would be nice to see some of the "old gang" at the airport.

Moyle said that he and Allen have signed contracts for a series of vaudeville appearances in California and that he had been told their act is already booked for showing at a Santa Ana theater.

Moyle and Allen at present are filling a number of speaking engagements before embarking on their vaudeville tour. The jail sentence imposed upon him prior to his ocean flight has been set forward for another 30 days, Moyle told friends at the airport. The judge granted this extension in order that the two fliers might make their vaudeville tour and fill other engagements.

START SCHOOL OF MISSIONS SUNDAY

The annual school of missions of the First Presbyterian church will open tomorrow at 5:30 p. m. with a friendship tea to which anyone interested is invited. At 7 p. m. there will be classes for all ages and at 7 p. m. an assembly for all groups.

Dr. Robert F. Lenington, missionary in Brazil for the past 35 years, will be the assembly speaker.

Texts for the various groups will be as follows: adults, "The Challenge of Change"; young people, and high school group, "God and the Census"; junior high group, "Treasures in the Earth"; primary, "Open Windows"; primary, "The World on a Farm."

TOBACCO, CIGARETS TAKEN BY THIEVES

Smoking tobacco, cigarettes, chewing gum and candy were stolen from the Hamby Service station at 1501 West Fifth street, some time last night, by burglars who broke in a rear door to gain entrance, according to a report filed with the city police.

Eleven cartons of cigarettes were taken, together with four cartons of smoking tobacco in tins, three cartons of chewing gum and six boxes of candy, it was reported.

City police were today making an investigation.

PARACHUTE CHAMP TO PERFORM SUNDAY

Harry Booth, world's champion parachute jumper, who has made several sensational leaps at the Eddie Martin Airport, south of Santa Ana, will return Sunday to again thrill the crowd at the landing field.

As an added attraction, officials at the airport have announced that the person registering the nearest guess on the altitude at which Booth leaves the plane in his jump will receive a free airplane ride for two passengers. Every visitor at the airport tomorrow will be permitted to register a guess before Booth makes his leap.

Local Briefs

Members of the better business committee of the Orange County Builders' exchange are to hold a meeting next Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the exchange offices, upon call by Charles E. Rutledge, chairman.

Engineering science developed and built the finest carburetor ever produced when it created the new Zenith.

Coupled with its sensational new principles of carbureting the liquid gasoline, is a sturdiness of construction that makes it a lifetime carburetor.

Every part of this wonder carburetor is constructed of materials especially selected to serve the particular purpose—to compensate for expansion caused by engine heat and thereby eliminate faulty adjustment—to resist wear and to withstand hard service.

DERRICK CRASH KILLS MAN

Jack Sheares, Santa Ana workman, was instantly killed early today when the heavy steel derrick, being used to drill a water well off the old Palisades road, on the Irvine ranch, crashed, crushing him underneath.

POPE ELECTED AT REALTORS' CONVENTION

Santa Ana realtors were again recognized by the California Real Estate association and Frank C. Pope honored for his services to the organization in the closing session of the association's annual convention in Long Beach yesterday. Pope was re-elected to his second term as regional vice president.

Other regional vice presidents elected were: Frank E. Michel, Sacramento; Frances Cutting, Stockton; Charles Pugh, San Jose; Oscar Reed, Fresno; A. B. Donough, Berkeley; Henry Ritting, Redwood City; H. B. Scudder, Sebastopol; Floyd Covey, Alhambra; Cullen A. Messer, San Bernardino; A. H. Volker, Glendale; Charles E. Arnold, San Diego, and W. T. B. Campbell, West Los Angeles.

Peter Hanson, prominent realtor in Glendale was elected president of the organization.

Pope, one of the pioneer members of the Santa Ana Realty board, and past president of the organization, has long been active in affairs of the state association. He was active in the organization of the local board which a few years ago, was honored through the election of Everett A. White as president of the California Real Estate association.

In the appraisal contest held as a part of the convention program the Santa Ana team comprising W. F. Croddy, secretary of the Santa Ana board and Joe Michener, took third place. First place went to the team representing the Santa Monica Realty board and the Los Angeles board team was accorded second place.

Mission Worker Will Give Talk At Church Here

Members of the various missionary organizations of the United Presbyterian church, under whose auspices the annual thank offering service will take place Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, have secured Miss Oma Wood, of Los Angeles, as the speaker. Her address will take the place of the morning sermon usually given by the church pastor, the Rev. W. H. McPeak.

Miss Woods recently has toured mission fields in Egypt, and the Holy Land, in the interests of the United Presbyterian Missionary board.

All funds taken in at this service will be used for the advancement of the church's missionary work at home and abroad. It has been announced that in former years, proceeds of the thank offering service have been over $1000.

Presbyterian Men To Give Dinner

The Brotherhood of the First Presbyterian church will hold a dinner meeting at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday. The Rev. Harry Evan Owens, pastor of the First Baptist church, will speak on "When a Man's a Man". Important matters will be discussed. All men are invited, according to Brotherhood leaders.

PRENTICE JURY IS UNABLE TO REACH VERDICT

After a trial lasting five days, the court, its attaches and attorneys in the $43,000 damage suit brought against J. E. Prentice and Josiah Crawford, Santa Ana, by Mr. and Mrs. William G. Moch of Ontario over their alleged election from property on East First street, were greeted at 12:15 a. m. today by a hung jury. The vote is reported to have been seven to five for the plaintiffs. Another report put the vote at six to six.

C. D. Swanner, who represented the plaintiffs, with Rutan and Mize, stated today that the case would be tried again.

The jury left Superior Judge G. K. Scovel's court at 3:59 p. m. yesterday after final argument by attorneys for the plaintiff and by F. C. Drumm, who represented the defendants, with J. B. Tucker and John Martell.

Mr. and Mrs. Mohr claimed they were elected forcibly from the property without notice. Prentice and Crawford claimed that no more force was used than necessary and that Prentice put a notice to vacate in the door of the house, formerly owned by E. D. Burge.

Altar Society Of Church Has Card Party As Benefit

Special From Anaheim

Said to be the most successful of recent Anaheim card parties was the benefit affair held Thursday night by members of the Altar society of St. Boniface church in the church hall. Twenty-three tables were in play.

Attractive decorations featuring the Halloween season were carried out in all appointments of the evening. Lovely flowers carrying out that motif were presented the society by Mrs. Elizabeth Arnold and Mrs. Lewis Kraeger from their attractive gardens.

Scoring in the bridge contest were Mrs. Wallace, Mrs. Bove of Fullerton and Mrs. Goosen. In the "500" session Miss Rose Bushman, Joe Baum and Kenyon Lybarger were winners. Appropriate prizes were awarded each winner and door prizes were secured by Mrs. Nellie Terry and Frank Baum.

Refreshments concluded the delightful evening.

DOGS, CATS AND BUNNIES SEEK ANNUAL HONORS

Big dogs, dragged their young owners eagerly forward, little dogs strained helplessly at their leashes, rabbits unused to traffic, laid their long ears back as far as possible and dignified turtles calmly wondered what these queer humans were about, as the third annual pet parade, sponsored by Norman Sprowl, manager of the Fox theater, got under way with a flourish in front of The Register building this morning.

Yolos, balloons, buttons and caps added to the gaiety of the occasion as blue-coated officers made way for the aggregation of animals and their proud owners.

Aristocrats of Dogdom

"Pop-Eye," who combines the best to be found in the police dog and the chow, yawned in a bored way in the arms of his owner, Joe Lemons, above the aristocratic dolly-buggy load of a quartet of thoroughbred chows exhibited by Glennjean Deardorf.

One of the finest pets was that brought by Lorraine Sweet, and the dog, a toy terrier weighed two and a half pounds. Wayne Carothers brought a fox terrier, "Blackie," and a basenji named in a small cart was the entry of Norma Area. Peter Rabbit, whose adventurous ways are well known to all youngsters, was riding in a bird cage and had been caught in a field a few weeks ago and presented to Everett Pearce.

Three generations of desert turtles, appearing, have been owned by Wayne Harlan for two years and are named Oscar, Amy and "Ma." The turtles are very tame. Mary Frances Flood entered two canaries and an English thoroughbred bulldog was entered by Harry Dick. The biggest dog was a St. Bernard, "Sylvia Von Fohrmann," owned by David Marriott. Little Lillian Flood pushed two black bunnies in her doll buggy and she was accompanied by her black dog "Tinkle."

Pathetic Entry

The most pathetic entry was that of five beautiful little orphan puppies whose mother was poisoned last week. They are owned by Robert Kellogg. Two-year-old Jimmy Asham had his Boston terrier "Lady Buckey," and Harold Stowe a cocker spaniel, "Peggy."

Two cats were entered, one by Cecil Wilson, and one by Everett Pearce.

Mary Ann Hick, a blonde bathing beauty of two years, brought her dog "Dainty" and "Patsy" was the French bull entered by Billy Gordon. Lewis Christensen brought "Flossie," a cocker spaniel, a trick fox terrier was entered by Charlotte Stafford. A rabbit in a blue bird cage was the entry of Jack Mantor. Bobbie War had his wire-haired, Ruth Hawley her "Pom," and three-year-old Herbert Lee a cocker spaniel.

Prize winners were to be rewarded this afternoon at the Fox Broadway.

GIRL EVANGELIST OPENS MEETINGS

Norma Ealey, 18 year old evangelist, will start a two week sermon series at the church of the Nazarenes here Sunday night. The meetings will be held daily except Saturday, at 7:30 p. m. On Sunday she will preach both at the morning and evening services.

The girl evangelist has been preaching ever since she was 10 years old. She never has been troubled in a Bible school nor has she taken elocution lessons but she is said to hold her audiences' interest easily.

Students Contribute To Chest Fund

Figures showing the contribution by Santa Ana school children to the Community Chest fund were released today at the school administration office by Dr. Percy R. Davis, school superintendent. Total contributions of $85.31 were reported.

The schools, and the amount contributed by students are as follows: high school, $15.45; Hoover, $3.51; Jefferson, $6.83; Julia Lathrop Junior High school, $16.27; Lincoln, $3.51; Lowell, $5.16; McKinley, $5.00; Muir, $2.53; Roosevelt, $3.14; Franklin, $2.71; Spurgeon, $6.11; Frances Willard Junior High school, $3.50; Wilson, $7.20, and junior college, $11.33.

URGE BUILDING OF FIRE LINES BY UNEMPLOYED

If funds are to be expended to relieve the unemployment situation in California this winter, a conservative program for the elimination of forest fire hazards by the concentration of fire breaks and motor ways should be included, it was resolved by the members of the Orange County Forest Protective association at the meeting held last night in Ketter's cafe.

The resolution was addressed to the state department of finance for consideration.

Various other matters were also acted upon, including the invitation for the state convention of the Rural Fire Institute to meet here in the spring of 1932. The bid will be acted upon at the 1932 session at the University of California in Los Angeles.

A motion was passed suggesting that the University of California hold fire demonstrations in Orange county next spring.

John Osterman, chairman of the rural insurance committee, reported that progress had been made in investigating the chance for reduced fire rates in rural districts. The association also acted to extend membership to representatives of communities and organizations which are interested in forest fire protection.

A talk on forest management was given by Woodbridge Metcalf, extension forester for the University of California, and by Mayhew Davis, assistant superintendent of the Cleveland National forests. Others who spoke were W. H. Coup, deputy state forester, Willard Smith, county supervisor from Orange, Harry Valentine, of Corona, Joe Scherman, Orange county forester, and L. C. Gordon of La Mesa.

Stanford university's Cardinal football eleven played its first game of the 1931 season with West Coast Army after only four days practice. The team had not been scrimmaged once.

CHANGE TIME OF CHEST REPORT MEET MONDAY

There will be no luncheon report meeting of the Community Chest workers on Monday noon, it was announced today by Chairman Harry D. Riley. A special meeting is called for four o'clock Monday, at the city hall, for consultation as to ways and means of completing the canvass.

"With our shortage reduced to less than $10,000," said Riley, "I am confident that we are going to put the campaign over. We are right now within striking distance of the goal, and we are determined to carry on until we reach it."

Added reports from branch houses were announced by Chairman Rodney E. Bacon, whose committee has been working for weeks on the problem of getting full representation of chain stores and branch houses in the fund. The Brooks Clothing company and the Fox West Coast theater were additional names released by Bacon.

"Our team's quota is $2,000," said Bacon, and we lack only $650.00 of making it. We have yet to hear from a number of firms whom we confidently expect to contribute. When the returns are all in, our quota will be met."

Bacon has been ably helped in his work by the following committees: W. M. Wells, Norman Sproul, Major M. Anderson, Earl Rowland, Fred Crowell, George Sullivan, W. A. Shook, and A. L. Holberg.

More firms reported their employees as pledging 100 percent to the Chest, through T. J. Hunt's team. The additional hundred percenters are Santa Ana Cabinet Works, Smart and Final Wholesale Grocery, Security Title Company, Graham Brothers, West Coast Fox theater and the Business Men's association.

W. P. WHITSETT CONDEMNS LAND SPECULATORS

Chairman W. P. Whitsett, of the Metropolitan Water district board of directors, yesterday vigorously condemned land speculators who seek to profit from construction of the $220,000,000 Colorado river aqueduct and declared that a group is being organized in Southern California with the express intention of gaining control of land that will be used for the aqueduct right of way. The group plans to resell it, he said, at the district at exorbitant profits.

Whitsett pointed out that the district has contemplated buying the land at a fair price but that "there is no land speculator under the sun who has the moral right to reap a profit from speculation on land desperately needed by our people as part of their water supply system."

Persons found guilty of such plans will be mercilessly exposed to public view, the chairman said.

GRAHAM PAIGE HAS PLAN TO AID SALESMAN

In a summary of two months' operation of the Graham-Paige salesman's co-operative compensation plan, under which the factory shares equally with the dealer the burden of paying salaries to new salesmen, C. W. Matheson, general sales manager of the Graham-Paige Motors Corporation, says that the plan has been successful in its main purpose, that is, the discovering and developing of productive salesmen during the slack selling season, in order that dealers may be well prepared for the peak of business that will mark the return of better times.

The salesman's co-operative compensation plan, says Mr. Matheson, "was put in effect when, because of the seasonal falling off of sales, many dealers had been compelled to reduce their sales forces to an extreme minimum."

"The plan was, of course, an experiment, since it was the first instance in the automotive industry of a factory's sharing in the paying of retail salesmen's salaries and the first attempt to put motor car salesmen on a regular income basis through factory co-operation."

"During the two months that the plan has been in operation, our dealers have engaged hundreds of new salesmen. Dealers were permitted to give each salesman a three weeks' test, in order to determine whether he would produce. There has been a large turnover, which was to be expected—but many salesmen quickly demonstrated their real ability."

WORLD AFFAIRS STUDENT TELLS HOW OTHER NATIONS INVOLVED IN CONDITIONS

Four nations, in addition to the United States, hold the key to world progress in the present day situation, it was asserted by Dr. O. W. E. Cook, head of the department of international relations at the University of Southern California, when he spoke on "How Other Nations Are Meeting Changing Economic Conditions" before the Knights of the Round Table and visitors from other service clubs yesterday noon at Ketter's cafe.

The four nations are England, Germany, France and Russia, he said. He analyzed the special problems before each of these powers and pointed out the necessity of international unity rather than the oppression of one nation by another, from suspicion and war animosity. In his address, which was the third of a series, he said:

"The condition in England grows out of the war first and is but natural that England should share with the other nations, the results of the blowing up of $230,000,000,000."

"In the first place, she lives a life that is centered upon her relations with other people. She cannot live a life that is dependent upon herself alone. As a definite result, she had depended very largely upon South America, the Far East and certain of the European countries for markets in which to sell her manufactured articles. India was in the throes of a revolution. In China again was revolution. Latin America, during the war was largely captured by America, and increasingly so, was taken from the British. Russia, that before the war was also a very important factor in British finance, turned to Bolshevism in 1917. The result was that the English had to face a condition that they had not known for more than 100 years."

"Labor Party Factor
"Then again there was a situation in Great Britain that was somewhat different from that which you could find in any other section of the world. It was the presence, under the leadership of Ramsay MacDonald and Arthur Henderson and a few others related to them, of what is called the Labor party. They promised great things, and they did great things."

"They came into power for a short time under Ramsay MacDonald a few years ago. They were displaced as you know, by reason of a certain move with relation to Russia, and two years ago England again returned the Labor party to power."

"England has been running behind at the rate of $100,000,000 a week, for the past months. No nation can stand that kind of thing."

"The second reason, is the debt. The debt started as a measure to help out those who upon their return from the war found themselves out of a position. It was started as a social insurance. It grew and was abused."

"With the impossibility of balancing their budget, the problem of England for the past year and six months came to the final conclusion within the last two months. I think if England is going to face squarely the difficulties and try to come out of placing power into the hands of the ministers at the end of the month, she is going to elect Ramsay MacDonald and others associated with him to almost unlimited power for the period that may seem necessary."

"Burden On Germany
"Now as regards Germany. Germany, at the close of the war, recognized that she was beaten. She was hailed before the peace conference at Paris, and she was told that she must sign on the 'dotted line.'
"She was signing, under duress, a statement that she was all to blame. Not only that but by the determination on the part of the Allies, that Germany should pay for the war, a tremendous burden was placed upon her. Dr. Bogard of the University of Illinois declared that the total expenses of the war were $300,000,000,000, and France said that Germany must pay it all."

"It was determined that a very heavy burden, finally scaled down under the Young Plan, to $9,000,000,000 (about $600,000,000 a year) should be placed upon the backs of the people of Germany for a period of two centuries. Germany faced the necessity of getting back her world market; she faced the necessity of recouping her finances locally, she faced the necessity of paying France reparations, and has paid $10,000,000,000 all told, for the restitution and restoration of the devastated areas of France."

"All the Allies had made certain other statements, among them a statement that the reason why they insisted on Germany's cutting down of the army to 100,000 and taking all of their navy, was because it wasn't safe to have an armed nation in the midst of a group of nations that were going to disarm. And so after five or six years when no one was seen to disarm, Germany became wary and called attention to the fact that she was paying the reparations and the Allies instead of cutting down on armaments or their preparations for war, were increasing them continuously."

"Threaten World Upheaval
"And as a result, Mr. Hitler comes in and says I will show

"I'll call for, I'll repair, I'll return and I'll guarantee your clock. What more could you ask for? Just call 834 and I'll do the rest."

Mell Smith D. G. W. WATCHMAKER 405 1/2 N. Broadway Upside Brothers 1 buy old gold—for cash

mon. Russia hasn't that. She has a condition of state socialism. She has that state socialism in the hands of a small group, a very small group under the leadership of Stalin.

"They did away first with private property for what the private property had done to them. Not only have they abolished private property, they went after the church, and the Greek Catholic church is getting precisely what it long, long has deserved. They have gone too far, but they know nothing else, they know nothing of a religion that allowed people an opportunity for thought, saying nothing of a religion that tried to help the people. They only knew a religion that ground them down and kept them ignorant and made them merely the victims of a system."

"Five Year Plan
"Lastly, they made that which is called the Five-Year plan. The Five-Year plan is a plan for the industrialization of Russia. The Five-Year plan calls for the expenditure of some $35,000,000,000 to $50,000,000,000, between 1925 and 1932. It means that in industry and agriculture there shall be a complete right-about face."

"They have at the present time 10,000 foreign engineers in Russia, about 1000 of them Americans, 8000 Germans and the rest from other countries, putting in their electrical plants, building bridges, building railroads, doing everything that means the building up of the economic and industrial life of the country."

"It is the general consensus that there never has been anything for the rehabilitation of a 150,000,000 people done on an economic scale so large in the history of mankind, as the Five-Year plan has been in Russia. Why won't it be successful? In the first place, you have the centralization of authority in small groups. You have not only the centralization of authority from that standpoint, but you have all the economic life of the country at the behest of local soviets, and you have a final power resting on the artisan class."

"I do know it is a worthwhile attempt to do something that might be highly constructive. I don't know that as far as capitalism is concerned, as over against it, there are certain very very grave weaknesses in the capitalist system that probably will not be corrected until someone as constructive in his ideas gets a hold on capitalism and determined that its weaknesses are to be remedied. The idea that there is nothing doing in Russia worthwhile is about as impossible an attitude as you can find anywhere in our day. I do not believe in dictatorships. The reason why I don't believe in what's going on in Russia, I can believe what is going on in Russia if it is handled reasonably well is going to serve as a mighty fine lesson for capitalism, if capitalism is able and willing to learn."

"Menace of Militarism
"France is now developing a militarism or has allowed herself to develop a military psychology of precisely the type Germany had in 1914. That great danger is just as bad as it was in 1914."

"After England and Germany and France, the most important nation in Europe is Russia. Russia bore the heaviest and hardest of the brunt of the war for the first two years and possibly three years."

"I believe that the responsibility for starting the world war rests more upon Russia than it does upon Germany. Russia sacrificed two millions of men on the Eastern front. She killed them off like flies. She naturally reacted from the situation and there was present in the center of her population, first a group that was known as the Mensheviks, represented by the middle class, that had never had a chance in Russia, and a group that were represented by the Bolsheviks or the so-called artisan or lower class. Here was the chance for a group that had never had a chance before."

"Russia Not Communist
"In 1917 the Bolsheviks were able to swing Russia in line with their purposes. They set in motion a movement that was not only political, but at the same time was social and was fundamentally economic. They declared against private property. "Remember another thing, that Russia has not today Communism. Communism is the sharing by all people, all the members of the state things in com-

No, It Wasn't An Earthquake

There was no earthquake last night in spite of the fact that windows shook and houses trembled to the accompaniment of a dull rumbling sound resembling the earth's growl heard here several years ago when Santa Barbara was laid waste by a quake. The shaking and rumbling started shortly after 8 o'clock and continued at regular intervals until almost 8:30 p. m.

The rumbling and earth trembling was caused by four United States battle ships engaged in night target practice on the battle fleet drill grounds near Santa Rosa Island.

DRAFT LAW TO CURB SMUDGE POT NUISANCE

As a result of a conference at Riverside yesterday, district attorneys of Orange, Riverside, San Bernardino and Los Angeles counties will present to their boards of supervisors an ordinance designed to curb the smudge pot smoke nuisance which is particularly evident in the interior counties.

District Attorney Sam L. Collins, of Orange county, said he might receive copies of the ordinance approved yesterday in time to submit it to the board here next Tuesday. Standardization of heaters will be made on a smoke basis. It is understood that extensive smoke measuring machinery and inspection systems would be part of the enforcement program. Heaters which produce more than a given amount of carbon per unit of fuel would violate the proposed ordinance.

The proposed ordinance developed from wide protest last winter against excessive smoke from the heaters and followed several conferences on the matter. A group of community leaders made the recommendation which resulted in the proposed ordinance. J. P. Baumgartner was a member of the general committee.

Girls To Sing At Men's Bible Class

A program including readings and music by two young women has been arranged for presentation at the Men's Community Bible class tomorrow morning. It was announced today by E. A. Cox, president. The entertainers are Ruth Rimmel and Margaret Ellner. Miss Rimmel will give several readings and the two girls will sing duet numbers. The gospel lesson will be brought by the Rev. Walter S. Buchanan, class teacher and pastor of the First Christian church.

Police Searching For Missing Girl

Santa Ana police officers were today searching for Palina Murietta, 16, of Glorietta, who disappeared from her home yesterday. The girl's father, Arthur Murietta, made a plea to the police last night, asking aid in finding her, stating that she suddenly left home and had not returned. The girl weighs 145 pounds, is five feet, five inches in height and has dark eyes and dark braided hair.

MERCHANTS TO SPONSOR NEW KREG FEATURE

KREG is initiating a new program which station officials believe will be of prime interest to residents of Orange county. It will be called the "Shoppers' Guide Program," and will be sponsored by local merchants who are well acquainted with the benefits of carrying a message to their patrons. Up-to-the-minute suggestions and information concerning the products of reputable firms will be given in brief announcements.

The station management is well acquainted with the fact that listeners do not want "lots of talk and no entertainment," therefore a policy of pertinent facts about merchants and their goods in a clear and concise statement will be adopted. Popular Hawaiian melodies by the National Harmony Boys, subject to request, will be offered during these periods to be broadcast from 1:00 to 1:30 and from 5:00 to 5:30 p. m.

And now, having the Eugenia Hat-Fever pretty well under control, the next out-break scheduled by Dame Fashion is to be a return to the leg-o'-mutton sleeves. A woman wearing those looks like she was walking between a couple of other gals. But the oftener they change the styles, the more clothes women will buy and the more they buy, the more laundry work there'll be to do. So I welcome style changes just so long as they don't go too far back for inspirations and copy the wolf skin skirt or the fig-leaf. Whatever they wear, they'll still appreciate the careful washings in soft water we give their clothes and the fragrant cleanliness that comes from using Ivory Soap. And plenty of it!

officials except Sunday. Station officials stated further that only the products of reputable firms and in the public interest will be accepted for these broadcasts, thus assuring the listener of honest representation and values. It is believed that the benefits to the listener from these timely broadcasts will be of considerable value, not only in bringing to his attention various market values, but in the saving of time and the elimination of inconveniences usually experienced in the search for "what you want."

KREG INCREASES BROADCAST TIME

Starting Monday morning radio station KREG will add 15 minutes to its broadcasting time going on the air at 9:15 instead of 9:30 a. m. as has been the program of the past.

An Monday mornings this extra 15 minutes will be taken by Walker's Austex Castilians. On other days the period will feature programs of selected semi-classical numbers and organ selections.

KREG NOTES

Estelle Card Beaman will be on the air tonight from 8 until 8:30 with another of her delightful programs featuring stories in verse. Miss Beaman, an excellent reader of poems, has chosen some of the best works of outstanding writers for presentation.

Famous compositions by noted artists, musical organizations and composers will be featured tonight for 30 minutes starting at 7:30 p. m. on a selected classical program.

Coming by direct wire to the studio from K. P. hall tonight the Spanish hour will feature an excellent dance orchestra that is well worth listening to, according to Senor Guillermo Orozco, director of this program.

RADIO FEATURES

A scene from "St. Paul," one of Mendelssohn's most ambitious oratorios, performed by a selected group of soloists, will be among the offerings of the Cathedral Hour to be broadcast tomorrow from 10 to 11 a. m. over the Columbia network.

The morning service of the "Church of the Air" tomorrow will be conducted by a representative of the Congregational denomination when Dr. J. Percival Huget, of Brooklyn, preaches over the Columbia Broadcasting system. Devotions will begin at 7 a. m. Jewish services will be conducted by Rabbi Solomon B. Freshof, of Chicago. This period will begin at 11:30 a. m.

Albert Spalding, world famous violinist, will be heard as soloist with the New York Philharmonic-Symphony orchestra during the broadcast of the Sunday afternoon concert over the Columbia network, from 12:15 to 3:00 p. m. tomorrow.

Two of the outstanding stars in the operatic firmament, Rosa Ponselle, soprano, and Giacomo Lauri-Volpi, tenor, will be presented as soloists in a special Atwater Kent program over the NBC network tomorrow night between 6:15 and 7:15 o'clock. The program will be released in Los Angeles by KFI.

Radio broadcasting is having a tremendous effect in speeding up the unification of the protestant churches, according to Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, who has just returned to the United States after attending three important church conferences in England, and who will resume his regular Sunday broadcasts over an NBC-WEA network on October 18, from 12:30 to 1:00 p. m.

Outstanding educators of the country will be heard in a series of weekly academic programs presented by the National Advisory Council on Radio in Education over a National Broadcasting company network beginning tomorrow. President Nicholas Murray Butler, of Columbia University, President James A. Angell, of Yale, and President Ernest L. Bogart, of the American Economic association, will inaugurate the series. They will speak from 5:15 to 6 p. m., P.S.T., through an NBC network.

CASTILIANS TO START PROGRAM ON AIR MONDAY

Beginning next Monday morning at 9:15 o'clock a series of Mexican musical programs will be broadcast over station KREG. So popular has Mexican music become in this country that hardly a day goes by but what some Mexican numbers are heard over the radio, but it is when one hears them played as only real Mexicans know how to play them. Realizing the demand for truly genuine Mexican music, the Walker Properties Association, manufacturers of Walker's Austex chili and other products, at Austin, Texas, decided to give the radio audience of America a real treat.

A well known orchestra of native musicians from the land below the Rio Grande was obtained; the musical libraries of Texas, Old Mexico and California were searched for original and genuine Mexican music and Walker's Austex Chile programs are the pleading result.

The Walker's Austex Castilians begin their program with "Cielito Lindo," which is Spanish for "Beautiful Heaven." This number is followed by an old Mexican waltz entitled "Recuerdo," which means "I Remember." "El Choco," or "The Slipper," is a peppy dance number full of dash and fire. The program closes with one of the most beautiful songs of Mexico, "Amapolita," which is inspired with the life, love and romance of that lovely land. In English the song would be called "The Poppy."

BRIDGE HAND TO BE EXPLAINED MONDAY

Following is the bridge hand to be explained over station KREG Monday night by Mrs. W. H. Haddon, bridge expert who in addition to giving a weekly lesson over the radio teaches the Culbertson and official systems of contract by appointment at her home 1014 French street.

In addition to explaining the following hand Mrs. Haddon will answer questions telephoned or written to station KREG.

BRIDGE HAND

GENEVIEVE KNOX RETURNS TO KREG

Starting Monday morning at 10 o'clock Genevieve Knox will conduct the Women's Hour program on KREG. She is the originator of this period over the local station that has proven so popular with the housewives. She has been away from the studio on an extended summer vacation.

During the Woman's hour she will not confine her talks to household hints alone but will discuss market specialties of interest to the entire household. Cleland Harbaugh will provide the entertainment during the program. Harbaugh is well known as a pianist and was formerly staff pianist at station KGA in Spokane, Wash. The programs he will present over KREG will be of a semi-classical nature.

LORENE CRODDY TO GIVE NEW PROGRAM

Starting at 7 o'clock tonight over KREG and continuing for 30 minutes Lorene Croddy will present her adult students in a delightful offering of selected vocal compositions.

The program for this period will be: "Morning" and "Thrush at Eve" sung by Vera Gwilliam and an authentic Japanese program as follows: The Mother-in-Law, a quartet number featuring Ruth Crowl, soloist, Alta Fisher, Betty Paul and Lorene Croddy; Solo, "Sword Song," by Jeanette Clatt and "Love Song" presented as a solo by Betty Paul. Anna L. Marshall and Lorene Croddy will offer as duets "Friend of Mine" and "Spinning Song."

Church Services To Be Broadcast

Two church services will be broadcast from station KREG tomorrow for the benefit of shut-ins and others who cannot attend services. During the morning hour the Spurgeon Memorial Church, M. E. South, will be on the air from 11 a. m. until noon. At night services from the Church of the Nazarene will be broadcast starting at 7:30 p. m. and continue until 9 o'clock.

ANNOUNCE WINNERS IN SHOE CONTEST

Winners in the second week of the Serene and Fulkeron Shoe Milage contest will be announced tonight from 6:45 until 7 p. m. over station KREG during the program being sponsored by Serene and Fulkeron, shoe dealers at Fourth and Sycamore streets.

Many people have delayed entering old shoes in this contest, believing that entries will obligate them to buy a pair of shoes. This is not the case. The program was started, primarily, as a means of filling a need in Santa Ana. The Salvation Army has been receiving an unusual number of requests for old shoes for men, women and children this year and could not supply them all. The contest was started to obtain discarded shoes which, at the close of the contest are turned over to the Army for rehabilitation and distribution among the needy. The prizes offered are an added inducement to secure the shoes.

CONTINUE PROBE OF MYSTERY SHOTS

Deputy Sheriffs were today continuing their investigation of the mysterious shooting of two youths, Frank Tiscerno, 20, 1702 West Fourth street and Donald Cormier, 19, who were spattered with shot from a shotgun, when they stopped their car on West First street Wednesday night.

Lights on the car suddenly became dim and the boys stopped to attempt repair when a gun blazed away at them from a distance of 30 feet, it was reported. The shot penetrated the car, breaking out two windows. Two girls in the car at the time were not hurt. Officers declared they questioned a rancher near the place, found a shotgun which had been recently fired, but did not make an arrest. The rancher denied he was the man who fired the shot. Officers said that the gun "smelled" as if it had been recently fired.

"A Striking Question the Catholic Church Is Asking the Protestant Churches and They Remain Silent."

This question was asked by a great Jesuit priest in Rome in the greatest Jesuit church in the world, where the remains of the body of Ignatious Loyola lie buried. Many Protestants were present upon the occasion when the question was given and they left the building stunned and speechless. Around the world has gone this great question and still it remains unanswered by the Protestant churches.

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

PAUL IN THESSALONICA

Comment on the International Union Sunday School Lesson for Oct. 18. Paul in Thessalonica and Berea. Acts 17:1-12.

By WM. E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of The Congregationalist

This lesson continues the story of Paul's journeys, and it is almost a typical account of the situations that develop wherever he preached.

Paul was staying at the house of Jason in Thessalonica. There was a synagogue of the Jews here in this city. Some of the Jews moved with jealousy because Paul's religious activity stirred up some of the rabble in the city. Gathering a crowd, the Jews assaulted the house of Jason, planning to bring Paul and Silas out so that they might maltreat them. Not finding Paul and Silas in the house, they dragged Jason and some of the Christian disciples before the rulers of the city. The charge that they made against them has become classic in its expression. "These that have turned the world upside down have come hither also."

It was really a very great complaint. Christianity is not a futile or slight thing. It changes things so greatly that in the eyes of those concerned with preserving the world as it is, it seems that religion is a revolutionary force, turning things upside down. Of course the proper representation is that religion, where it is true and vital, is not turning things upside down but putting things right side up. As long as things are wrong in the world this will always be the effect of sincere religion as it is preached and practiced.

The opposition to Paul and Silas in Thessalonica assumed another aspect. When the foes of a particular form of religion, or philosophy, or social movement, cannot assail it because of inherent defects, it is by arousing prejudice against it. Dr. Samuel Johnson, himself a great patriot, declared that patriotism was the last refuge of a scoundrel. True patriotism is a great virtue and an essential foundation of a stable state, but because patriotism is a high and noble thing, base men make use of it for their own ends.

So these foes of Christianity at Thessalonica assailed the Christian disciples as disloyal to the state. They accused them of preaching and acting contrary to the decrees of Caesar, saying that there was another king, one Jesus.

The danger, however, to Paul and Silas was apparently very great; so the disciples in Thessalonica sent them by night to Berea.

On coming to Berea, Paul went into the synagogue of the Jews as was his custom. This was about as dangerous a place as he could find, but it was his place of duty. At Berea, however, he found the Jews receptive to his word. They were willing to examine the Scriptures and to listen to Paul's interpretation. Berea has become a

Avocado Growers To Get Dividend Christmas Gift

The largest and final slice of the attractive $80,000 to $100,000 operating "dividend" of 1931 will go to more than 1000 calavo-avocado growers, many in this district, just in time for Christmas, announces C. H. Young, comptroller for the Calavo Growers' Co-operative Exchange, today.

This Christmas present is entirely additional to regular monthly pool payments, and the half-cent a pound credited the grower in the revolving fund, adds Young. Approximately 25 cents a box will be distributed for all fruit coming in from October 1, last year, until July 1, this year; 75 cents a box already having been distributed. Growers sending in fruit in July, August and September will receive about $1 a box. The financial co-operative "dividends" are regarded as unusual inasmuch as the year ending was one of greatest production in a time of poor markets.

Mulholland Dam To Be Abandoned

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 17.—(UP)—The municipal board of water and power commissioners yesterday approved unanimously the abandonment of Mulholland dam, situated in the hills above Hollywood. Instructions were voted by the four members of the commission to H. A. Van Norman, chief engineer, under which he is to immediately prepare plans for a substitute water system for the community. It was decided by the commissioners that the instructions were to exclude use of Mulholland dam as a part of the substitute plan.

NEW BOOKS IN PUBLIC LIBRARY

By VERA RAMSEY
When you are challenged by someone to show:
Whether it is any use to believe in God; whether it does any good to pray; whether life has any meaning; whether religion makes any contribution to mental health; whether the church ought not to be scrapped as useless; what do you answer?

Edwin Ewart Aubrey in "Religion and the Next Generation" gives suggestions as to an adequate answer to these problems in terms that will not have to be unlearned later.

This book will help two groups of people: those who are trying to find spiritual satisfaction but cannot accept traditional religious teachings, and those who, themselves perplexed, must help younger folk to find a wholesome religion. Dr. Aubrey goes behind creeds to those basic human needs which gave them birth. By the approach through the psychology of the emotional life he comes to a consideration of the great religious ideas of God, prayer, and worship from a significant new angle. Speaking of the idea which served as the basis for this book, Dr. Aubrey said:

"I have run across a quotation from President Glenn Frank, which seems to express my purpose: 'For some time I have found myself between the Scylla of Traditionalism and the Charybdis of Modernism. I have been left cold alike by the unsound affirmations of the Traditionalist and the sound negations of the Modernist. There is in me, as there is in men everywhere today, a hunger for a positive faith that will satisfy the soul of the saint without disgusting the intellect of the scholar.'"

"What Dr. Frank here feels to be his religious need is precisely what I have been trying to get at in the book."

Those who have been troubled by the same feeling will be at least interested in Dr. Aubrey's handling of the problem.

Dieting for weight control is a dangerous practice to the inexperienced individual. While they are an all important factor, foods—or the lack of them—have been found to cause great harm by seriously affecting health. "Diets and Food Values," by William S. Sadler and Lena S. Sadler, suggests safe, sane ways of combating obesity or emaciation. It lists the correct foods to eat, with actual recipes on how to prepare them for the patient. It takes all foods and classifies them according to their values. The authors also explain that there is something else in food besides just calories, namely the live element—the vitamins. They classify foods as proteins, starches, fats, cellulose and salts; explain the proper amount of protein for repair of the tissues, together with a suitable amount of starch, sugar, and fat for heat and energy.

The book also discusses the important part exercising plays in weight control, and how best to make use of this treatment. Exercise, if not taken within limits, can be of more harm than value. The authors tell the correct method of exercise for the patient and what should be done to avoid strain and weakness. Similarly, the causes and cures of emaciation are plainly stated. Worry, under-eating and overwork with simple, sensible rules for their cures are also explained.

In all, this book will be found to be a valuable guide to those fleeing from or pursuing the spectre of weight.

Colonel James Churchward first went to India as a young man in His Majesty's service in 1868. Soon after his arrival he was assigned to Central India to assist in famine relief. Here he met a high priest—a Rishi—in a Temple School Monastery. They became fast friends, so close that the Rishi made available for Churchward some of the ancient tablets hidden for thousands of years within the temple vaults, and showed him some of the simplest interpretations for some of the symbols carved thereon. Noting the young man's enthusiasm the Rishi gradually went farther and farther in his teachings until eventually he had given Churchward a new language—supposed to be the original language of mankind—and facts, substantiated by these tablets which would fire the dull imagination. For twelve years this friendship continued, until Churchward was, in his own right, master of the language of Mu, and until he had sufficient knowledge of the earliest of civilizations described on the tablets of the temple to search for further evidences of this civilization.

He tells us the story of this search and its findings in "The Lost Continent of Mu." After many and extensive travels he found in the Polynesian Islands, the missing links to the amazing story he had first discovered years earlier. That story is the story of Mu and her vast civilization which spread over the whole world twenty thousand to two hundred thousand years ago. It is the story, not only of how that civilization grew, but of how it was destroyed and lapsed into the savagery out of which our modern culture has developed.

"The Lost Continent of Mu" contains the first chapters in this fascinating revelation of the origin of man. "The Children of Mu" continues the record and tells how the world was colonized. They are both exciting reading.

WISDOM AND KNOWLEDGE

Col. 2:3

The Apostle Paul, writing under inspiration to the people of Colosse, makes a very remarkable statement which seems to me particularly appropriate for the world in its present dilemma. In chapter two we read: "For I would that ye knew what great conflict I have for you, and for them at Laodicea, and for as many as have not seen my face in the flesh; that their hearts might be comforted, being knit together in love, and unto all riches of the full assurance of understanding, to the acknowledgment of the mystery of God, and of the Father, and of Christ; in whom are hid all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge."

In present-day vernacular, Paul would say, "I want you to know and understand my deep concern for you, and for all who have never seen me. May your hearts be encouraged, and may you learn the meaning of love. I desire for you that wealth of conviction which comes from spiritual insight, so that you will acknowledge God the Father and Christ, in whom are hid all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge." And I ask, why that last phrase: why verse three? That is my text for this message:

"IN WHOM ARE HID ALL THE TREASURES OF WISDOM AND KNOWLEDGE."

I stood on the platform of the union station in Los Angeles one day this week and watched the departure of the Golden State Limited for Chicago. It seemed to me the longest passenger train I had ever seen (I was a railroad man for several years), and all the cars appeared to be crowded. I could not help but recall the verse in Daniel, "Many shall run to and fro, and knowledge shall be increased." Truly, I thought, from the standpoint of both of these, that day has arrived. Present economic conditions the world over have not hardly affected extensive travel. And if ever man boasted of knowledge, it is now.

Our English word "knowledge," as used in the New Testament, is translated from particularly two different Greek words. One implies

"knowledge by way of experience," the other "knowledge by way of recognition." It is in the former sense that the word appears in the text. It is also in this sense that the "knowledge of salvation" is given. If the secret of their understanding of true love and of heart courage lay in an experimental knowledge of God and of Christ, is it any wonder the apostle was concerned about them, and warned that all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge were hid in Him? As to wisdom, Solomon said, "It is better than rubies," then added, "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom." Certainly Paul infers in these verses it is an act of wisdom to acknowledge the mystery of God the Father and Christ, in Whom are hid all the treasures of true wisdom. And James affirms the same when he says, "If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not; and it shall be given him."

If ever the heart of man needed courage and comfort, if ever the race needed the secret of assurance and true love, it is now. In this hour of uncertainty and doubt, the man in the office and the boy in the class-room crave courage and assurance. From whence shall it come? Only from Him in Whom the treasures of wisdom and knowledge are hidden. And here is a challenge for the Christian, in both pulpit and pew. Again Paul wrote, "Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth." A proper solution to our business problems is found in God and His Book. All the facts of true science were written in the Book before their discovery by men. When the astronomer says he has found the earth to be twenty-four hours behind schedule, we say true, the Bible accounts for every minute of it. When the geologist claims the existence of a prehistoric race, we can assure our boy or girl their faith need not be endangered, for our Bible fully reveals the record. When the business man and the statesman say they are face to face with problems hitherto unknown to the race, we can turn to the Book and find that such was to come, and under such conditions exhorted to "have faith in God." We as Christians are expected to "hold forth the Word," which will give assurance, and hope, and steadfastness; and show something of the compassion and love of Christ for the world, which is our privilege in such an hour as this. The world doesn't need more entertainment; it has enough of that. It doesn't need more of knowledge (by way of recognition, or investigation, or speculation) to satisfy its ills; God has said He would bring that to naught. What man needs is an experimental knowledge of God and Christ which will bring hope, and comfort, and assurance, and steadfastness, and peace, and joy to his troubled soul.

No wonder Paul is concerned. No wonder he directs the attention to the treasure-house of God which is bulging with blessings for all who will come unto Him and find rest. And the challenge is to us as ministers and laymen of the Church of God in this day, to hold forth that love, and that Word of assurance, which will sustain and undergird the tempest-tossed soul in a struggle that seems to him a losing one.

Late News Developments From Anaheim And Vicinity

1100 PERSONS HEAR RECITAL FRIDAY NIGHT

Special From Anaheim

Before an audience of 1100 persons, faculty members of the Orange County School of Fine Arts were presented in concert last evening in the high school auditorium by Kate E. McCullah, director. Artists performing in the concert were Calmon Luboviski and Olline Matthews, violinists; Tudor Williams, baritone; Norma Gould, dancer; Franz Darnas, pianist; and Daphne Goss Hollerman, dramatist. The appreciative audience was enthusiastic over the performances of each artist. They gave their numbers artistically and with spirit.

By request and reason of great popularity with audiences all over Southern California for his artistry on the violin, Calmon Luboviski was requested to play a solo besides the duet which was listed on the program as played with Olline Matthews. He responded with "Munehra" by Sarasate, and gave a brilliant inception of the piece.

The duet, "Concerto for D Minor," by Bach was played by the two violinists with Olline sharing equal honors with Luboviski. The composition was in two parts, "Vivace" and "Largo, ma non tanto" with the audience showing a preference for the latter.

Of decided importance on the program last evening was the one-act play, "Pepita" which was acted by Mrs. Hollerman who enacted in charming fashion the five roles of the play. The play was of Spanish origin, with each role calling for a different interpretation. Mrs. Hollerman showed ability in each of the parts. The characters which she assumed were those of Carlos and Juan, attendants; the general of the Spanish army, Le Comandante; El Barba, a daring gypsy bandit; and Pepita, the bandit's sweetheart. With great charm of manner Mrs. Hollerman brought laughter and tears to those who listened to the interpretation which she gave.

Tudor Williams, baritone and a favorite in musical circles, sang four numbers, "Pia Signore," "Myself When Young," "Ich Grolle Nicht," and "The Seminarist." The latter piece was a vivid characterization of a Russian student, with a humorous twist to the lines of the music. The baritone had just finished a number of engagements with the Los Angeles Grand Opera company which was concluded with his role in "Die Meistersinger" Thursday night at the Shrine auditorium in Los Angeles.

The interpretive dancing of Norma Gould, famed throughout dancing circles as an artist of ability, gave her interpretation of "The Hungarian Rhapsody" last evening. Contrasting vividly with her black hair was the red and white costume which she wore. The interpretive acting closely followed the rhythm and expression of the number, bringing out the same mood and action. She exhibited the primitive savagery of the Hungarian peasant life.

Later on the program she presented eight of her concert dancers in the dance "Papillons, Opus 2." Eight parts of the piece, "Allegro Comodo," "Prestissimo," "Allegro Molto," "Moderato," "Allegro Moderato," "Prestissimo" and "Allegro Feroce" were performed with each of the dancers taking a leading role. The dancers were Kathleen Allen, Lucile Beckwith, Florence Broxholme, Helen Cartwright, Margaret Case, Elizabeth Garrett, Gladys Huls, Iris Kuhnle, Francella Maddock, Margaret Reis, Annastine Rowell, Victoria Tobia, and Dorothy Williams. The natural dancing was done with decided grace, and a sylph-like charm.

Franz Darnas, pianist, played "Mazepa" by Liszt which is a brilliant, lively number calling for the real ability which Darnas exhibited.

Following the concert an informal reception was held on the stage at which time the artists were presented in person to the members of the audience who desired to meet them.

Assisting Mrs. McCullah in receiving the guests were Mrs. Sam Kraemer Jr., Mrs. E. E. Smith, Mrs. Robert Hulin, Mrs. Reginal Taylor, Miss Katherine Stewart, Mrs. H. R. Pearson, Mrs. H. C. Kier, Mrs. H. M. Darnas, Mrs. J. Truxav, Mrs. H. M. Peterson, Mrs. E. Ganahl, Mrs. E. G. Rundstrom, Mrs. Retta Schewe, Mrs. Mabel Hathaway, Mrs. Myra Roberts, Miss Ruth Taunton, Mrs. H. Schultz, Mrs. J. A. Claves, Miss Madge Sproule, and Mrs. William Webb Jr.

Those who ushered were Hazel Filer, Bernice Spears, Katherine Ann McCullah, Geneva Potter, Adele Runstrom, Helen Drake, Bill Turner, Charles Peters, Richard Clark, and Houston Kier.

D. A. R. WOMEN HOLD MEETING HERE FRIDAY

Special from Anaheim

For the initial program in celebration of the 200th birthday anniversary of George Washington, members of Daughters of the American Revolution of the Mother Colony chapter chose "Family Relationships of George Washington" as the first discussion topic when they met yesterday afternoon in the Pioneer house.

In taking up this subject Miss Mary McLure addressed the Daughters on the history of the family name of Washington telling of how ancestors of the family came over to England from Normandy and there became established. The first ancestor known was William de Hertburn, then it was changed to de Wessington, finally became Washington, the "de" being dropped. Two brothers came over to America and settled in Virginia, one of them becoming the great-grandfather of George Washington.

Mrs. J. S. Sheridan continued the program telling of the paternal and maternal history of Washington, giving a full account of the ancestry on both sides. Mrs. J. H. Ritchie followed the program by speaking on the step-children and grand step-children of Washington.

In keeping with the spirit of the afternoon Mrs. Victor Loly sang two lovely old songs of that day, accompanied by Miss Geraldine Dolan.

Mrs. Ernest Borchert, regent, presided during the opening of the meeting when "America the Beautiful" was sung and the pledge to the flag and creed given. Miss Mary McLure, Mrs. J. S. Sheridan and Mrs. J. H. Ritchie were hostesses for yesterday's affair. Mrs. Wright of Portland, Ore., was a special guest of the Daughters.

The next meeting will be in charge of Mrs. David Toms, Mrs. W. H. Seitz and Miss Eleanor Parker. Their subject will be on the "Homes of George Washington," and is very much anticipated by the members.

ANAHEIM HOLDS ORANGE HI TO SCORELESS TIE

Special from Anaheim

Fighting as a colonist team has not fought for many years, Coach Dick Glover's Fighting Colonists held "Stew" White's highly touted Orange Panthers to a 0-0 score yesterday afternoon on the Colonist gridiron before 1500 spectators, many of which proclaimed the contest the most interesting and exciting ever witnessed on the gridiron.

Harold Welty, Orange flash playing the quarterback position, was doped to run roughshod over and around Anaheim on end runs, but only one gain of any significance; a 23 yard run resulting in a touchdown which was not counted; one of the Orange men being off-side.

The game was filled with surprises, intercepted passes, fumbles, which all combined to make it one of the most interesting exhibitions of football ever seen.

Orange was doped to win by two touchdowns, but Anaheim's sterling defense proved too much for the Panthers. During the first half Anaheim had the ball in Orange's territory practically the whole period. Orange made only one long run during the game, for 23 yards around Anaheim's left end, on a lateral pass, by Welty.

Bennie Davis, substitute half-back for Anaheim, intercepted no less than three Orange passes, all of which if completed would have gone for large gains.

The spectators received quite a laugh when Davis had his pants torn and a change of pants between he and one of the substitutes was made on the field inside a surrounding of blankets.

Anaheim was in scoring territory once but a fumble which was recovered by Orange ended their hopes for a score.

Orange played nice football at times but a lot of dissension among the players failed to produce their best efforts.

Opening the second half Orange got off a fluke kick which was taken by Akerman on Anaheim's 47 yard line.

The Colonists started a drive by a pass from Bouldin to B. Davis for a 9 1/2 yard gain; B. Davis made 9 1/2 yards on a short side reverse; then Cline bucked over guard on a fake reverse for 8 yards, which placed the ball on Orange's 29 yard line.

Another pass from Bouldin to Bennie Davis was completed and on the next play Cline fumbled, Orange recovering, thus ending the Colonists' touchdown drive.

The play of Anaheim's midge forward was one of the highlights in this game of games.

The whole line from end to end playing inspired football. Although the tackling was inclined to be rather allspish at times, the hard charging made up for the deficiency.

Charles Comstock, substitute for Bouldin, threw a beautiful 55-yard pass, but none of the Anaheim receivers are fleet enough of foot to catch the long distance heaves.

To name an individual star for the afternoon would be an impossibility, but much credit must be given to each and every one of the boys and their coach, Dick Glover.

Following is Anaheim's all-star lineup with their all-star substitutes:

Anaheim	Orange
Grimm	LE..... Peterson
Pitzpatrick	C.....LT..... Maag
Minder	.....LG..... Yorba
Akerman	.....C..... Walker
Eley	.....RG..... Moise
Pee	.....RT.....Leichtfuss
Kidd	.....RE..... Danielson
Clausen	.....QB..... Welty
Uyeshima	.....RH..... Spennetta
Bouldin	.....F..... Kruger
	.....F..... Meyer

Substitutions: Anaheim—B. Davis for Clausen, Danny Smith for Uyeshima, Mott for Kidd, Gorschuch for Eley, Comstock for Bouldin.

Orange—McBride for Meyer, Julio for Yorba, Saint Claire for Maag, Gunther for Danielson, Flippen for Dougan, and Boncutter for Julio.

ENGINEER FOR IRVINE RANCH TELLS OF DAM

Special From Anaheim

C. Roy Browning, engineer for the Irvine company, was the featured speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the Orange County Engineer's club held last night in Irvine park. He told the 55 members and guests of the organization of construction methods employed on the Santiago dam that is being constructed by the Irvine company near Orange.

Anaheim members and guests who attended the meeting were O. E. Steward, V. Koehler, V. W. Hannum, A. J. Kay, Max Moody, E. E. Parks, E. M. Lemke and E. L. Hapgood, Anaheim city engineer. Mr. Hapgood is president of the organization and presided over the meeting.

Engineer Browning and Resident Engineer Albert each talked on the dam and presented charts of cross sections of the dam to show methods of construction employed. Following the lecture members and guests adjourned to the damsite where they personally inspected the work. Huge floodlights illuminated the scene so that the inspection was as effective as if done in the daytime.

Others in charge of the program were W. K. Hillyard, county surveyor and C. C. Bonebrake, Orange city engineer.

STATE PRESIDENT OF REBEKANS COMING

Special from Anaheim

In honor of the social visit of the state president, Lucy Dake, of Los Rebekah lodges, the Anaheim lodge will call a special meeting on the evening of November 2 at the I. O. O. F. hall at 8 o'clock. It was announced last night at the regular business meeting of the Rebekahs held in the Odd Fellows hall. Initiation work will be conducted and a program will follow as a complement to the president.

The regular meeting of the lodge will be held on the evening of November 6 at 7:30 o'clock in the I. O. O. F. hall.

Refreshments were served last night at the conclusion of the evening by members with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Triplett in charge.

ORANGE BOYS ARE LECTURED BY CHIEF

Special From Anaheim

A fusillade of green oranges, used to bombard various parts of the city by 14 Orange high school boys, was responsible for the appearance before Chief of Police J. S. Bouldin last night, the chief giving them a friendly lecture after they had been brought to the station by Officers Grant Rude and Ray Barnett.

The marital spirit of the youths seemed to have been the aftermath of a football game between Anaheim and Orange resulting in a 0 to 0 score. Residents of the city telephoned police headquarters of the unique bombardment.

BRIDGE PARTY HELD BY PYTHIAN SISTERS

Special from Anaheim

Sponsored by past chiefs of Pythian Sisters, a more than successful bridge party was held yesterday afternoon for members of the Pythian Sisters in Knights of Pythias hall.

When tallies were checked at the conclusion of the afternoon it was found that Mrs. Ben Baxter held high score, Mrs. Lena Campbell, second, and Mrs. Nellie Terry, third. Interesting prizes were presented each score.

Mrs. Clara Wilson headed the committee in charge of arrangements. Next Wednesday night the Sisters will celebrate the birthday and anniversary of the hall.

The Case of the Missing Sandals

By Nancy Barr Mavity

Peter was scarcely surprised to learn, when he returned to the office after his interview with the missing man's father, that trace of the fugitive had been found. He had just settled down to his typewriter when Jimmy dashed across the room, flourishing a yellow type-written sheet of paper.

"New lead on Vincent! The A. P. just sent in a flash. His car was found overturned in a ditch just outside Los Angeles. No sign of Vincent himself, but the registration card is in his name and the license plates tally. There was a rifle in the back seat. Check with the district attorney's office and see what Graham's going to do."

"The autopsy report came in while you were out and the bullet has been turned over to Graham. Oh, by the way, the autopsy surgeon says the knife wound was inflicted by a left-handed blow, judging by the direction. Better play that up somewhere near the lead."

"Gee, Peter breathed, "it'll sure put the finishing touches on it if the rifle and the bullet match. That would just about cook Vincent's goose."

"If they find him," Jimmy amended.

"Well, if he's dumb enough to leave all that evidence lying around behind him, he's not likely to escape. It isn't as if he were a professional crook, with places to hide out and all that. It's not so easy to disappear, when you haven't had any practice. With the police of the whole state on the look out for him, he hasn't a chance."

Vincent, however, despite lack of previous training, seemed to have vanished from the abandoned machine as completely as he had disappeared from his apartment. Almost every hour brought reports that he had been seen, followed by retractions when the suspected persons proved that they were innocent citizens, indignant, bewildered or amused at finding themselves questioned by the police because some highly imaginative stranger had detected a fancied resemblance to the missing man.

In one respect the fact that Vincent was not a professional criminal reacted to his advantage. His photograph was not on file in the bureau of criminal identification, and the police were therefore forced to rely on the vagueness of a written description.

On the morning following the discovery of the car, Graham had flown to Los Angeles, taking the bullet with him. In order to get the rifle and to press gun and bullet to a ballistic expert for microscopic comparison.

As he put in a long distance call from the office telephone for the district attorney the next evening, Peter admitted to himself that personal zeal was responsible for his generosity with Herald funds.

If the bullet and the rifle checked, then the last lingering wisep of doubt of Vincent's guilt would be driven from his mind. If they didn't—then Vincent's disappearance, whatever its cause, became a minor mystery of its own. So far as the murder was concerned, they would be just where they were on Tuesday morning, when the body was discovered.

Peter wished the police no ill luck; but in the hue and cry after

Vincent everything else had been left out of their calculations—things which persistently pricked Peter's curiosity and which he had had no time to consider further, so long as he was kept at his desk, hammering out new leads with each new suspect picked up and released in the southern city.

"Any luck?" he asked in response to Graham's "hello" over the wire.

"Enough to pin a murder charge on Vincent—when we get him," Graham answered.

"You're evading," Peter challenged. "If you'd got an identification of that gun and bullet, you'd be saying so right out. What's the catch in it?"

"Well," Graham said cautiously, "you may say if you like that the bullet came from the same type and make of gun, and one in the same condition as the rifle found in the car. That ought to be enough, eh?"

"For publication, yes. But there's something in the wordplay over there. You don't sound half as chipper as you ought to. You might as well tell me what it is—I won't print it without your say so."

"I'm morally satisfied it's the same gun, all right," Graham insisted, but the makings weren't clear enough to make an absolute identification possible. It's a cheap make of gun, and old besides. That makes a difference.

"The rifling is too badly worn to leave a clear impression on the bullet—not clear enough for absolute scientific proof, that is. But the probability, combined with all the other elements in the case, is strong enough for anybody."

Almost strong enough, Peter amended, as he hung up the receiver. Strong enough for a murder charge, strong enough even. It might be, for a conviction. Little weight, surely, could be given a father's belief, against the reluctant acknowledgment of reason, that his son could not have committed murder because he was not that kind of a boy.

Peter shrugged his shoulders and gave himself over to the day by day chronicling of the man hunt for the readers of the Herald.

Yet the problem of Earl Vincent's personality continued to nag his mind with an undertone of speculation. Why should it worry him that he could not form a coherent picture of the character of a man whom he had never seen? But that eminently sensible question was persistently followed by another.

If Vincent was so stupid or so benumbed by terror as to leave a trail behind him as unmistakable as an automobile highway—if he had not even had the elementary cunning to remove Luna's picture from his room, conceal his driver's license and dispose of the rifle—how then had he been clever enough to bring that trail to an abrupt end, disappearing as effectively as if he had indeed ridden away on a witch's broomstick?

Peter sat very much at ease, his chair cocked backward, his long legs elevated to the top of his desk. His face hidden behind a book purchased from the literary editor. Now and then he glanced backward over his shoulder at the clock on the office wall. In five minutes he would stroll over to Jimmy's desk.

remark that he was "cleaned up" for the day, and suggest that the Herald might be expected to survive if he left half an hour early.

Those five minutes marked the precise psychological interval between a possible eleventh hour inspiration for a story on Jimmy's part and a resigned, "All right, go along."

Peter allowed his thoughts to float forward, envisioning a gay and intimate evening of celebration, strictly limited to two. It was his wedding anniversary—his and Barbara's. Two years and no regrets—they'd hold the long distance matrimonial record yet!

"Mind you don't mix the cocktails before I come," he had warned.

Barbara thought a cocktail was something that added to put green olives in, but Peter rather fancied himself as a creative expert. They would drink a toast, half merry, half earnest, cross the table, with the candles lifting pointed flames between them. Barbara would insist on the candles as indispensable to a real celebration, and Peter, as always, would make gentle fun of her romanticism.

The anniversary would make up for Christmas. Peter had spent Christmas day in the county jail, waiting for the sheriff to bring in a trio of captured bank bandits, while Barbara, had carefully prepared dinner and dried herself to shreds in the oven, and she had not even allowed the faintest trace of disappointment to tinge her voice over the telephone.

Staunch little comrade, Barbara! He fingered the small flat box in his waistcoat pocket. She'd scold him for that budget-wrecking little box—but her eyes would be big and shining, and they would agree that the folly of happiness was worth all the calculated wisdom in the world.

The hands of the clock pointed precisely to the half hour as Peter bumped his chair to the floor and ambled with elaborate unconcern to Jimmy's desk.

"I say, Jimmy," he began in his most wheedling tones. "Jimmy slammed the telephone receiver on the hook as Peter approached.

"Piper! Oh, there you are. Get the next boat to San Francisco. Vincent's been found."

"The h— he has!"

CHAPTER 4
Peter's voice was studiously colorless. The vision of a candle-lit table, of shining wide eyes, held for a moment, a bright bubble of lost enchantment, then wavered and broke.

"The hell he has!" he repeated; but this time his chin was lifted and his eyes were alert and eager. "How come?"

"A passenger on the boat recognized him, and told the captain. He radioed the police. He's on the Admiral Grayson, coming up from Los Angeles."

bold stroke, to come back again at all—and on the boat under an assumed name," Jimmy explained. "Evidently the present radio operator knew who he was. He stuck pretty close in the radio room most of the time. Of course it was just chance that a man who travels back and forth on that line on business caught a glimpse of him and remembered him from the time Vincent was radio operator. Anyhow, he's on his way now."

"The police sent back word to keep him under guard, but he couldn't very well get out and walk home across a strip of Pacific ocean. They're not taking any chances, though. When Vincent found the jig was up, he sent a radio message to his father to meet him at the boat with a lawyer."

"That's too bad," he said mournfully. "Ten to one the lawyer will yell to him not to talk before he even gets down the gang plank."

"Just so."

With one eye screwed up in a prodigious wink, Jimmy looked very much like a red haired mischievous goblin.

"That's why we're going to get the jump on him. They're sending a police tug out to meet the boat beyond the heads. You just be Johnny on the spot and hop along over the rail. I'll give you a good hour before anybody else from outside gets a sniff at him."

"I do just love bounding about the bay on a good wind right in a tug about the size of a dinner plate. By the time my limp form is shoved on board the Grayson, I most likely won't be in a state to sniff at anything, even Vincent."

Although Peter's tone was one of extreme dudgeon, Jimmy was sufficed to keep Peter away from physical abduction would have not deceived. He was perfectly aware that nothing short of the chance at an interview

OPEN NEW BALL PARK HERE TOMORROW

Tustin Beaten, Orange Tied In Prep Grid Upsets

BLOCKED PUNT GIVES PEPPERS SURPRISE WIN

ORANGE LEAGUE STANDINGS

Team	W	L	T	Pts.
Brea-Olinda	1	0	1	1000
Anaheim	1	0	1	750
Orange	0	0	1	500
Garden Grove	0	1	0	250
Tustin	0	1	0	100
Huntington Beach	0	1	0	100

*The games counted half-a-game won and half-a-game lost.

Brea-Olinda high school today was the only undefeated-untied football team in a topsy-turvy Orange County league.

"Shorts" Smith's Wildcats did not play a conference game yesterday but moved into the lead automatically when Tustin lost to Garden Grove, 6-0, and Anaheim unexpectedly tied Orange, 0-0.

It has been a long time since the county confederacy has been shaken to its heels by two such upsets on the same day. Tustin and Orange were both prohibitive favorites.

A blocked punt by Kirven in the second quarter was almost directly responsible for the amazing home field triumph of Coach John Ward's Peppers. Garden Grove recovered the bouncing piggskin on Tustin's one-yard line, and Hapes, Ward's offensive star, promptly swept around his own right end for the lone touchdown of a surprising afternoon. Hodgson's try for the extra point was blocked.

Hapes ran Tustin's ends for considerable yardage early in the period but the Pepper attack was temporarily terminated when Becker intercepted a forward pass, intended for Kirven, on Tustin's 10-yard line. The Tilters were unable to gain and Lindsey fell back to kick out of danger. Instead, Kirven broke through Lindsey's defense and blocked the punt.

Tustin tried desperately to tie the score but was never quite able to pass the last white line of the fighting Wardmen. The Farmers smashed their way to Garden Grove's one-yard line just as the first half closed.

They did it again in the third period on a series of short passes from Morris to McInteer but were twice rebuffed on the goal-line, then penalized and Lindsey's pass was intercepted by Hodgson. An exchange of kicks started Tustin goalward again only to have another pass intercepted.

The Farmers threatened twice in the last quarter, and had the ball on Garden Grove's 22-yard mark when the game ended.

Benton, Sears and Morris, three of Tustin's outstanding backs, were injured during the action. Morris was carried from the field.

The lineup:

Position	Player
Quarterback	McInteer
Running Back	McInteer
Fullback	McInteer
Wide Receiver	McInteer
Tight End	McInteer
Center	McInteer
Offensive Line	McInteer
Defensive Line	McInteer

Quarterback	McInteer
Running Back	McInteer
Fullback	McInteer
Wide Receiver	McInteer
Tight End	McInteer
Center	McInteer
Offensive Line	McInteer
Defensive Line	McInteer
Linebacker	McInteer
Cornerback	McInteer
Safety	McInteer
Kicker	McInteer
Punter	McInteer

Garden Grove: Hapes, Wheeler.

Tustin: DeBrower, Sears, Armstrong, Collins, Bryant, Silver, Horton.

ANAHEIM HOLDS CHAMPIONS TO SCORELESS TIE

Serving notice it is in the Orange league race to stay, Coach Dick Glover's Anaheim Colonists held Coach Stewart White's conference champions from Orange to a 0 to 0 tie in Anaheim. Orange had slightly the better of the yardage but fumbled or lost the ball on intercepted passes, lost the ball on scoring territory, and once ran 25 yards to a touchdown which was not allowed because one of his mates was offside.

Further details will be found on The Register's Anaheim page.

ORANGE-TUSTIN GAME TO BE HELD AT ORANGE

By special arrangement between respective coaches and school authorities, the Orange-Tustin football game, which was to have been played at Tustin, will be played at Orange, October 30.

Coach Bill Cole of Tustin gave as his reason for desiring the change that Orange this season has no "big game" at home and that Tustin will be in the same predicament next season.

It is understood that the basketball game between the two schools which would have been played at Orange, will take place at Tustin this year, guaranteeing the Farmers a big game in basketball.

The Chicago White Sox probably will have a playing manager in the next two American League seasons, unless Lew Fonseca, versatile infielder and outfielder, decides to retire from the lineup for bench master-minding. The former Cleveland player, who was traded to the White Sox early in the 1931 season, is shown above putting his signature to a two-year contract as manager, with William Harridge, American league president, looking on.

RANDOM THOUGHTS

Santa Ana isn't such a big place but large enough to have a Howard Jones at 805 Bush street, a Dr. Spence at 813 Oak street, and a Glenn S. Warner on R. D. No. 1.

Don't believe me; look 'em up in the city directory and see for yourself.

Once a football player, always a football player. . . Hubert Armstrong, a scrappy redhead, was a regular first string end on "Spud" Morrison's famed Saint eleven of '21. Bill Cook was a flashy half-back for Anaheim Hi. the same season. . . Ten years elapse, Armstrong enrolls at Santa Ana junior college, reports for football. His coach is Cook, his onetime opponent.

The Saints already have one championship clinched this year. They are the best dressed football team of the season.

The American Night league, sister circuit of the lamplight loop hereabouts known as the National league, hands us one of the best laughs of the year. The American Night league is allegedly purely amateur and frequently points an accusing finger of professionalism at the National confederacy. Yet it wants to fine Leavitt Daley, supposedly an amateur player in an amateur league, for his attack on an umpire.

"Americans and Irish are getting flabby from easy living," said the late Knute Rockne. "Most of 'em are too soft to play in the line, where football games are won and lost. For linemen give me boys descended from races that have had to work for subsistence."

From Art Rigby's, little South Main street shop in obscure Santa Ana are purchased many of the clubs owned by Tommy Armour and McDonald Smith, world famed golf champions. The three were friends in the old country, and Rigby, who hand-makes his clubs, has provided Armour and Smith with certain types of shafts ever since they've been in America.

No longer can Santa Ana grumble about the rough and rocky surface of Burcham field at Long Beach.

School officials have finally turfed it.

Word drifts down from Stanford that Harold Hylton Santa Ana Jaycee captain in '29, has fought his way up from the Oregon State reserves and will start at tackle today against Stanford.

To win the job he beat out Kent, a two-letterman, and Miller, who earned a letterman last year. Coach Paul Schiesler was so disgusted after the Trojans beat his club, 30-0, that he demoted all hands and declared it a free-for-all fight for all positions. During that free-for-all Santa Ana's 187-pound Mr. Hylton forged his way to the front.

CARDS' VICTORY HITS 'MASTER MIND' THEORY

BY HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Oct. 17. — (UP)— St. Louis' victory in the recent world series was a very sad blow, indeed, to that school of fans which still clings to the moth-eaten belief that nothing is so essential to a ball club as a "master mind."

For the Cardinals were without the services of a master mind or anything or anybody that even resembled one.

Their boss was "Gabby" Street, a hard-bitten old campaigner less than two seasons removed from the bush leagues of the Missouri valley. Just to make sure that no one mistook him for a master mind, "Gabby" announced the series that there were a lot of things he didn't know about baseball, but thought he knew enough to tell when a game was over.

As to the "Minds" of "Gabby" were three of the finest old master minds of all time—Connie Mack, Eddie Collins and "Kid" Gleason. Connie, his followers said, was so smart he knew all the answers before the questions were asked. Collins had established himself as a master mind by thinking his way out of a vault, and Gleason, it was said, could give you the score of tomorrow's game, including hits, runs and errors.

But "Gabby" was not dismayed, while Mack, Collins and Gleason master-minded their heads off, Street went ahead on the simple theory that it's mighty hard to out-wit a home run, a two-hit pitcher, or a performance on a base on balls. What is more, Street had the men to perform these feats. So while the A's may have outthought "Gabby," they didn't win the series.

McGraw Disillusioned Scribe Personally, my faith in master-minding began to waver when John Joseph (Little Napoleon) McGraw was unable to think his Giants into a National league pennant during the years of 1925, 1926, 1927, 1928, 1929, 1930, 1931. McGraw, as you well know, is conceded to be a master-mind to end all master-minds. Of course, McGraw never has come right out and said he was the smartest manager of all times, but I have seen him deny it so often that I don't ever recall having seen where he denied such boasts.

Baseball is not the only sport in which you hear of this master-minding foolery. Football is filled with such talk. You will remember how they tried to tag a master-mind label on Knute Rockne, only to have Knute tell 'em that he was where he was because he had the manpower. Rockne knew from experience that when his material was poor, Notre Dame could lose football games, no matter how smart the coaching.

Plays in baseball and football that look like master-minding usually are nothing more than well-gambles that worked. Let a ball team execute a hit and run play and you'll hear the fans say, "smart business." Let the hit and run turn into a double play and you'll hear things you can't print.

A quarterback is a master-mind when he calls for a pass deep in his own territory and the pass works. But let the pass settle in an opposing player's arms, and you'll hear him cursed from here to Bombay.

The usual beef on the Stanford university football eleven is said to be absent this season, but that is hardly true in the case of Captain Harry Hillman, Stanford's 205 pound quarterback. Hillman is a veteran in the Cardinal line-up, a crack ball carrier well versed in the Warner system of wingbacks.

Archery For Women New Sport Here

Designed to give women a fair knowledge of bow and arrow fundamentals, classes in archery, introduced by "Tex" Oliver, director of athletics, have been placed on the physical education program at Santa Ana high school and junior college, with several members of the faculty forming a class of their own.

Coaches Alverda West and Ellen Foote, of the women's department, are in charge of the groups, which meet Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Faculty members hold afternoon practice on the front lawn of the high school campus, while high school and college students drill on East Poly field. The target is about three feet in diameter, and the marksman stands anywhere from 75 to 100 feet away. The average marksman is capable of shooting the arrow 50 feet with considerable accuracy. Several have developed great accuracy.

Enrolled in the faculty class are Lillian Dickson, librarian; Esther Couch, high school girls' counselor; Dorothy Decker, merchandising; Mildred Frazier, mathematics; Ruth Frothingham, Spanish; Anna Gilles, art; Genevieve Humiston, secretarial; Marie Jacobson, feminine hygiene; Myrtle Martin, music; Ruth Rowland, home economics; and Myrtle Stark, foods.

The high school and junior college group includes Gertrude Baker, Ruth Broderick, Edna Denkins, Maxine Giddens, Beatrice Hanby, Trudis Johnson, Helen Long, Virginia Sawley, Betty Van Slyke, Esther Vogt, Alberta Sanford, Elva Ringland, Betty Browning, Sara Grace Prumpton, Ruth Souder, Alice Lamb and Elizabeth Lehnhardt.

Dutra, Hunter In Gold Play Sunday

Olin Dutra and Willie Hunter will play the final match for the Southern California P. G. A. championship tomorrow over the greens and fairways of the Virginia Country club at Long Beach.

The morning match will start at 9:30 and the afternoon battle starts after lunch. The match is open to the public. The Virginia Country club is located north of Long Beach on the Los Angeles-Long Beach highway.

Two Sons Hear Rockne's Voice In Film

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 17.—The late Knute Rockne's two sons, William and Knute Jr., heard his voice last night.

The sons of the Notre Dame football coach, students in the Pembroke school here, were guests at a showing of the motion picture, "The Spirit of Notre Dame." Rockne's voice, from a recording, is heard from the screen addressing the players. Only the listening team is seen. "It's great," was the only comment of William, older of the boys, "but it's too short."

Those Athletics had no more ardent fans than the comely trio pictured here at Shibe Park, Philadelphia, during the world series. Their family name is McGillicuddy, and in case that doesn't mean anything to you, remember that Cornelius McGillicuddy is the name on Connie Mack's birth certificate. Left to right, Betty, Mary and Rita McGillicuddy are daughters of the veteran manager of the Philadelphia American leaguers.

ARIZONA DOUBLES CHAMPIONS MEET S. A. BOWLERS FRIDAY

M. H. Case and Emil ("Cappy") Ricks, Arizona bowling champions, will appear here next Friday night in a 10-game doubles series against two of Santa Ana's best ten-pin toppers, probably Harry Gaspur and Henry Christman.

Case and Ricks are on a "good will" tour of the United States, spreading the gospel of the 1932 Olympic Bowling Classic in Los Angeles throughout the nation's leading bowling alleys. Santa Ana is their first stop in California, and from here they go to Long Beach, Pasadena and Los Angeles, then head for the Pacific Northwest.

In their local match, Case and Ricks will give 50 per cent of the gate receipts to the convention benefit fund of Santa Ana Scouts No. 41. Bowling will begin at 8:15.

Case and Ricks began their tour at Tucson where they piled up a total of 3760 pins, an average of 188 per man. At Phoenix they scattered 4112, an average of 205.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

The scoreboard keeper at Shibe park gave the fans the heebie-jeebies just before the first world series game in Philadelphia. He listed the A's cleanup batter as Moore, if . . . There was much scurrying of war correspondents to learn what had happened to Simmons . . . They found Al ready to go . . . and the scoreboard keeper had a laugh at his little joke . . . Vic Fraser might do better than copy Burleigh Grimes' world series pitching for the Sox, but was beaten 1-0 in the ninth by the Cubs in the second game of the Chicago series . . . He followed with a six-hitter in the sixth game and again was beaten in the ninth, this time 2 to 2.

QUARTERBACKS

The topic of discussion was All-America quarterbacks, and who to consider for the honor this fall. After presenting an argument for no less than a dozen athletes, we looked over the list of a few years back. We agreed that the best quarterbacks often weren't the best all-around performers in their respective backfields.

The primary duties of a quarterback have become rather definitely established as play-selection and signal calling. The latter is hardly worth mentioning. After the play is selected and the signal called, he may be a blocker, a kicker, a passer or pars receiver, or an elusive ball-carrier. It isn't often that a quarterback combines all of them.

SOME RECENT ONES

Harry Stuhldreher, the squat Notre Dame youth who rode to All-America honors with the famed Four Horsemen in 1924, could not be called an all-around back by any stretch of the imagination. Stuhldreher was first of all a field general, then a passer and blocker.

Benny Friedman didn't roll up much yardage as a ball carrier for Michigan in 1926, but his ability in two or three other departments was easily boosted him to the All-American post. The stock Wolferine was first and foremost among the nation's forward passers that season. He was a fine field general and an accurate placement kicker, but only fair at blocking.

DRURY HAD TALENT

Perhaps the most versatile of the modern All-America quarters was Morley Drury, husky Southern California star of 1927. Drury was the best kicker, passer and ball carrier on the entire Trojan squad and these duties he fulfilled in addition to directing the attack. He never had to block, but it is possible that he could have done that too, had not the Howard Jones

CHRISTIANS AND M. E. SOUTHS IN 'Y' HOOP LEAD

Turning in a convincing 37-to-15 win over the First Methodist quintet on the Y. M. C. A. floor last night, the high-stepping First Christians today took their place alongside M. E. South as leader in the Santa Ana Church Basketball league. Three other teams, victors in the first round of play, dropped a notch in the standings.

Characterized by so many fumbles that the referee had difficulty keeping up with them, the M. E. South-Latter Day Saints game, which the leading M. E. South five won 27-18, has been declared the hottest contest of the two rounds of play. With Bramley and Hamilton hitting the hoop frequently, the Orange Avenue Christians scored a 27-16 victory over the United Brethren to earn a 500 rating.

Next week's schedule: Wednesday—Latter Day Saints vs. Baptists, 7 p. m.; Costa Mesa vs. Orange Avenue Christians, 8 p. m.; United Brethren, 9 p. m. Friday—M. E. South vs. First Methodist, 7 p. m.; Christian vs. Brethren, 8 p. m.

The lineups:

M. E. South (27) (19) L. D. Saints Cook (9) (10) (11) (12) (13) (14) (15) (16) (17) (18) (19) (20) (21) (22) (23) (24) (25) (26) (27) (28) (29) (30) (31) (32) (33) (34) (35) (36) (37) (38) (39) (40) (41) (42) (43) (44) (45) (46) (47) (48) (49) (50) (51) (52) (53) (54) (55) (56) (57) (58) (59) (60) (61) (62) (63) (64) (65) (66) (67) (68) (69) (70) (71) (72) (73) (74) (75) (76) (77) (78) (79) (80) (81) (82) (83) (84) (85) (86) (87) (88) (89) (90) (91) (92) (93) (94) (95) (96) (97) (98) (99) (100) (101) (102) (103) (104) (105) (106) (107) (108) (109) (110) (111) (112) (113) (114) (115) (116) (117) (118) (119) (120) (121) (122) (123) (124) (125) (126) (127) (128) (129) (130) (131) (132) (133) (134) (135) (136) (137) (138) (139) (140) (141) (142) (143) (144) (145) (146) (147) (148) (149) (150) (151) (152) (153) (154) (155) (156) (157) (158) (159) (160) (161) (162) (163) (164) (165) (166) (167) (168) (169) (170) (171) (172) (173) (174) (175) (176) (177) (178) (179) (180) (181) (182) (183) (184) (185) (186) (187) (188) (189) (190) (191) (192) (193) (194) (195) (196) (197) (198) (199) (200) (201) (202) (203) (204) (205) (206) (207) (208) (209) (210) (211) (212) (213) (214) (215) (216) (217) (218) (219) (220) (221) (222) (223) (224) (225) (226) (227) (228) (229) (230) (231) (232) (233) (234) (235) (236) (237) (238) (239) (240) (241) (242) (243) (244) (245) (246) (247) (248) (249) (250) (251) (252) (253) (254) (255) (256) (257) (258) (259) (260) (261) (262) (263) (264) (265) (266) (267) (268) (269) (270) (271) (272) (273) (274) (275) (276) (277) (278) (279) (280) (281) (282) (283) (284) (285) (286) (287) (288) (289) (290) (291) (292) (293) (294) (295) (296) (297) (298) (299) (300) (301) (302) (303) (304) (305) (306) (307) (308) (309) (310) (311) (312) (313) (314) (315) (316) (317) (318) (319) (320) (321) (322) (323) (324) (325) (326) (327) (328) (329) (330) (331) (332) (333) (334) (335) (336) (337) (338) (339) (340) (341) (342) (343) (344) (345) (346) (347) (348) (349) (350) (351) (352) (353) (354) (355) (356) (357) (358) (359) (360) (361) (362) (363) (364) (365) (366) (367) (368) (369) (370) (371) (372) (373) (374) (375) (376) (377) (378) (379) (380) (381) (382) (383) (384) (385) (386) (387) (388) (389) (390) (391) (392) (393) (394) (395) (396) (397) (398) (399) (400) (401) (402) (403) (404) (405) (406) (407) (408) (409) (410) (411) (412) (413) (414) (415) (416) (417) (418) (419) (420) (421) (422) (423) (424) (425) (426) (427) (428) (429) (430) (431) (432) (433) (434) (435) (436) (437) (438) (439) (440) (441) (442) (443) (444) (445) (446) (447) (448) (449) (450) (451) (452) (453) (454) (455) (456) (457) (458) (459) (460) (461) (462) (463) (464) (465) (466) (467) (468) (469) (470) (471) (472) (473) (474) (475) (476) (477) (478) (479) (480) (481) (482) (483) (484) (485) (486) (487) (488) (489) (490) (491) (492) (493) (494) (495) (496) (497) (498) (499) (500) (501) (502) (503) (504) (505) (506) (507) (508) (509) (510) (511) (512) (513) (514) (515) (516) (517) (518) (519) (520) (521) (522) (523) (524) (525) (526) (527) (528) (529) (530) (531) (532) (533) (534) (535) (536) (537) (538) (539) (540) (541) (542) (543) (544) (545) (546) (547) (548) (549) (550) (551) (552) (553) (554) (555) (556) (557) (558) (559) (560) (561) (562) (563) (564) (565) (566) (567) (568) (569) (570) (571) (572) (573) (574) (575) (576) (577) (578) (579) (580) (581) (582) (583) (584) (585) (586) (587) (588) (589) (590) (591) (592) (593) (594) (595) (596) (597) (598) (599) (600) (601) (602) (603) (604) (605) (606) (607) (608) (609) (610) (611) (612) (613) (614) (615) (616) (617) (618) (619) (620) (621) (622) (623) (624) (625) (626) (627) (628) (629) (630) (631) (632) (633) (634) (635) (636) (637) (638) (639) (640) (641) (642) (643) (644) (645) (646) (647) (648) (649) (650) (651) (652) (653) (654) (655) (656) (657) (658) (659) (660) (661) (662) (663) (664) (665) (666) (667) (668) (669) (670) (671) (672) (673) (674) (675) (676) (677) (678) (679) (680) (681) (682) (683) (684) (685) (686) (687) (688) (689) (690) (691) (692) (693) (694) (695) (696) (697) (698) (699) (700) (701) (702) (703) (704) (705) (706) (707) (708) (709) (710) (711) (712) (713) (714) (715) (716) (717) (718) (719) (720) (721) (722) (723) (724) (725) (726) (727) (728) (729) (730) (731) (732) (733) (734) (735) (736) (737) (738) (739) (740) (741) (742) (743) (744) (745) (746) (747) (748) (749) (750) (751) (752) (753) (754) (755) (756) (757) (758) (759) (760) (761) (762) (763) (764) (765) (766) (767) (768) (769) (770) (771) (772) (773) (774) (775) (776) (777) (778) (779) (780) (781) (782) (783) (784) (785) (786) (787) (788) (789) (790) (791) (792) (793) (794) (795) (7

GARBO AND CLARK GABLE AT FOX BROADWAY

"Sidewalks Of New York" Opens Here Sunday

BUSTER KEATON CLIFF EDWARDS IN NEW COMIC

Buster Keaton comes, frozen-faced as ever, but in an electrifying series of new adventures, to the Fox West Coast theater, commencing Sunday, where "Sidewalks of New York," his latest laugh thriller from the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, will be shown.

Comical troubles galore follow Buster, who plays a millionaire's son trying to reform the small boys of a tenement district. He falls in love in the process—also into the disfavor of gangsters, and trials and tribulations galore dog his path.

He goes through varied troubles running a gymnasium and gets all bent up in a wrestling match. A boxing contest next mops him up some more, and a hilarious chase with gangsters figures in the whirlwind climax.

Jules White and Zion Meyers, producers of the "All Barkie" comedies, directed the new picture.

Anita Page, who last played with Keaton in "Free and Easy," is the heroine, and Buster's chief co-conspirator in obtaining laughs is Cliff Edwards, cast as the comedy valet Poggie. Frank Rowan plays the "heavy" as Butch, the gangster. Clipper, the principal juvenile, is played by Norman Phillips, Jr. The cast also includes Frank LaRue, Oscar Apfel, Syd Saylor and Clark Marshall.

Several hundred small boys of assorted sizes appear in the hilarious baseball game, the gymnasium sequences and the comical "show" in which Buster turns drama director with his juvenile talent.

CLINIC OPENS SOON

LA HABRA, Oct. 16.—Mrs. Robert H. Carey, who is active in the work of the baby clinic, sponsored by the La Habra P-T-A, announces that the toxin anti-toxin for babies over six months will be given again this fall. It will be administered every two weeks. The health center or baby clinic will open next Thursday at the Washington school at 2 p. m.

STARRED TOGETHER

Buster Keaton and Anita Page who have the leading roles in "The Sidewalks of New York," which comes to the Fox West Coast theater Sunday for the early part of the week.

Olsen, Johnson In 1 P. M. Show Sunday

Olsen and Johnson, two of the screen's nuttiest comedians, appear as the stars in the picture, "Sailor or Behave," which will be the 1 p. m. show at the Fox West Coast theater Sunday.

Each week the theater shows an extra attraction at 1 o'clock, just prior to the regular matinee and persons see two shows for the price of one.

The regular feature this week will be Buster Keaton in "Sidewalks of New York."

VINCENT GIVEN ROLE

Allen Vincent, juvenile lead in "The Vinegar Tree" on Broadway, has been assigned an important role with Carole Lombard in the Paramount filmization of Rupert Hughes' "No One Man."

'PENROD, SAM' MAKES HIT IN WEST COAST

Penrod, Sam, Marjorie, Rod the bully, Georgia, the goody-good, pa, ma, teacher, and all the gang, not forgetting Duke—the dog—delighted young and old at the Fox West Coast theater last evening when "Penrod and Sam" the first National production opened its local engagement.

The flesh-and-blood children created by Booth Tarkington in his immortal Penrod stories, were brought to the screen by the same producers some years ago in a silent version. Now they not only are seen, but in contradiction to the old adage about children, are heard. We see Penrod first as he comes from school after having been kept in for some misdemeanor. His faithful henchman, Sam awaits him. Both are "that way" about pink-and-white Marjorie, who flaunts by with Georgia, the goody-good—thus rousing their ire. They go to the packing-box shack which they and their pals have built on a vacant lot next door to Penrod's home—to scheme ways and means of punishing Georgia.

Two members of the secret club are Herman Verman, pickaninies. Georgia is blackballed, so is Rodney, the bully of the village. How Georgia is admitted to the club, on insistence of Pen's father, though with fretful initiation ceremonies—how Georgia is thrashed by Pen—how the hero and his buddy Sam come to blows over Marjorie—how Duke the dog meets his unhappy fate—how Rodney gets control of the vacant lot and ejects the club members—how they get back in unexpected glory—are but a few of the thrilling and uproarious adventures of a picture that is so human that it hurts.

Leon Janney, the remarkable child-actor, who is remembered in "Courage," "Father's Son," "The Doorway to Hell" and "Old English" plays the part of Penrod admirably—and the no less celebrated Junior Coghlan is his pal, Sam. Robert Dandridge and James Robinson play the delectable colored twins, Herman and Verman.

FORMER GANGSTER TO SPEAK SUNDAY

PLACENTIA, Oct. 17.—Bill Cook, converted Chicago gangster, will preach at Calvary church Sunday morning. A large crowd is anticipated to hear him. Services will start at 10:45 o'clock. The sermon will be broadcast over KGER beginning at 11.

Special services at the Placentia Church of the Nazarene Sunday night will be in charge of Mrs. Anna Haynes, of Long Beach, who will preach, and Mr. and Mrs. Kelley, of Monterey, all Salvation Army workers. Mrs. Kelley, known then as Captain Young, and Mrs. Haynes with Mrs. Dutton toured New Mexico more than 20 years ago in Salvation Army work.

The Kelley's will provide the special music for the service. At a special Young People's meeting at 6:30 p. m., Estes Haney, president of the Young People's society of the Breese Avenue Church of the Nazarene at Placentia, will be speaker of the day. Haney is a district officer of Young People's society.

Mrs. Haynes will have charge of the morning service and at 2:30 p. m. Bill Cook will preach.

Author To Spend Winter In County

LA HABRA, Oct. 17.—J. Breckenridge Ellis, noted author, and his mother are expected to arrive in La Habra Sunday to spend the winter. Mr. Ellis has spent the winters in La Habra for many years, returning to his home in Plattsburg, Mo., for the summer months.

EDDIE CANTOR FILM FUNNIER THAN 'WHOOPEE'

Brazenly labeled as simon-pure nonsense, "Palmy Days," the new Eddie Cantor song-and-gag festival is showing at the Fox Broadway theater as Samuel Goldwyn's successor to their inaugural "Whoopie."

It is a gay, comic strip kind of a yarn, in which Cantor is seen as the unwilling assistant to a gang of fake spiritualists, who hire him out as an efficiency expert to wreck a modernistic bakery that might have come out of an Arabian nights fantasy. For no bakery in this world could ever have such a collection of over-dressed and under-dressed beauties as disport themselves in "Palmy Days." Solomon in all his glory nor Ziegfeld in all his life never collected such a bevy as this.

Cantor is his old self, his old glory—bouncing, prancing, dancing, ebullient. His bony black eyes still look up at the ever constant menace that threatens to exterminate him. In "Palmy Days," Cantor fulfills his promise in "Whoopie"—that he is in pictures to stay, and that the screen has a definite place—a high place for him in its roster of favorites.

Eddie is aided and abetted by the elongated and lanky Charlotte Greenwood, who has legs like the hands of a clock. Together they amble and ramble through the blithe nonsense of the story as hosts and leaders to the battalion of Hollywood's most decorative of Samuel Goldwyn's newest discoveries. Lissome, winsome and sweet, is a not inconsiderable attraction in the bevy.

Miss Weeks shares with Eddie Cantor and Charlotte Greenwood the gay burden of the story, which was written by Cantor, Morrie Ryskind and David Freedman. It concerns the adventures of Eddie who is sent as efficiency expert to wreck the fantastic bakery of Mr. Clark. Eddie is in the hands of a gang of crooked spiritualists. By using Eddie as a dupe, they plan to destroy the plant and be able to buy it cheaply for a rival.

Tax Report Given Tustin Center At Session On Oct. 21

TUSTIN, Oct. 17.—The annual meeting of the Tustin Farm center will be held at K. P. hall Wednesday, at 6:30 p. m.

John W. Crill, president of the Orange County Farm Bureau, will be present to give a "Review of 1931 Farm Bureau Activities, and Looking Ahead Towards 1932." LeRoy Lyons, chairman of the tax research committee of the farm bureau, will explain in detail the recommendations which were submitted to the board of directors, and which were accepted by the board and also by all farm center officers. These recommendations represent the tax policies of the Orange County Farm Bureau, developed after a year and a half of study and research work by the tax research committee of the Orange County Farm Bureau, in cooperation with the tax research department of the California Farm Bureau federation.

Officers will be elected. Wives of members are invited to attend. Roy Rannels, president, announces.

YORBA LINDA

YORBA LINDA, Oct. 17.—Yorba Lindans have received word from Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Miller, who are traveling in the south, that they visited Mrs. Etta Knisley and Miss Jane Everett at Cleveland, Ohio. Both Mrs. Knisley and Miss Everett are known in Yorba Linda. From Ohio Mr. and Mrs. Miller plan to go to Washington, D. C.

Ross Johnson is in San Francisco attending the convention of the Masonic order. He went as a delegate of the Yorba Linda lodge.

GARBO, GABLE COMING

Greta Garbo and Clark Gable in a scene from "Susan Lenox," latest Garbo success which comes to the Fox Broadway theater

'SUSAN LENOX' NEWEST GARBO LOVE PICTURE

Greta Garbo is starred in "Susan Lenox, Her Fall and Rise" which will open Sunday at the Fox Broadway theater as a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer offering.

This is Garbo's fourth talk picture and is regarded as the most colorful and dramatic of her sound efforts. It is of unusual interest because it marks her first appearance opposite her Clark Gable, sensational romantic find of the season, who is said to be next in line for stardom his own name.

Gable, in playing the lead opposite Garbo, essays his first straight romantic role. In short time on the screen he built up an enormous following resulting in persistent demand for appearances from fans and exhibitors alike. His last pal was in "Secret Six," "A Fox Soul" and "Laughing Sinners" and "Sporting Blood." In the Garbo picture he plays the part of a young engineer who falls in love with a Swedish farm girl who happens upon his mountain cabin while fleeing from an unwelcome marriage bargain.

Dramatic Plot

The story concerns the Swedish girl's fight against overwhelming odds for a life of decency. Striving at the lodge with the young engineer, she falls in love. When he leaves to go to his home business, intending to return a marry her, the girl is discovered by her uncle. Again she escapes, joining a cheap carnival troupe as a dancing girl. Here the engineer again finds her, but learning that she has become the mistress of the troupe manager, casts her aside. They meet again when the girl, now a reigning demi-mondaine, is installed in a lavish New York penthouse provided by a political leader.

From this point the action of the story is carried to San Francisco and then to the island Java, where the climax takes place.

Miss Garbo is supported by large cast, including Jean Harlow, John Miljan, Alan Hale, Hamilton, Hilda Vaughn, Russell Simpson, Cecil Cunningham and Ian Keith.

'HARD HOMBRE' AT WALKERS' ENDS RUN

In his new production which opened at Walker's State theater last night, Hoot Gibson appears as "Peaceful" Patton, the mildest young man in the entire Southwest, who bears a marked resemblance to "The Hard Hombre" and dreaded by women.

There's more comedy in this, more laughs and more entertainment than in any Western we have seen in a long time. The direction by Otto Brower brought out the best talents of a cast worthy of his skill.

Lina Basquette is beautiful, romantic and appealing as Hoot's employer, the young Spanish widow.

If you want to see a rollicking, good-natured comedy—and who doesn't—don't fail to catch "The Hard Hombre."

TRUSTEES NAMED BY KIWANIS CLUB

LA HABRA, Oct. 17.—The La Habra Kiwanis club held an election at the regular meeting Thursday noon and the following men were chosen to serve as a board of trustees: A. W. Allison, E. R. Berry, L. H. Brewer, J. A. Chewning, Kenneth Kessler, Nelson Launer, Ray Marsh, George McWhirter, H. A. Randall, George Soule, O. T. Stephens, S. F. Treff, R. W. Vanderhoof, M. J. Pickering, B. E. Heltzman, A. V. Douglass, A. C. Earley, George Eaby, W. F. Espolt, R. F. Frantz, Wm. Gluth, Frank D. Halm, and Louis Muechow. From these will be chosen 11 directors at the next meeting and from the 11 directors the officers of the club will be selected.

It was planned at this meeting to hold a women's night program November 19, at the Woman's clubhouse and Jack Chewning was appointed chairman of special program committee.

The speaker at this meeting was H. R. Hammond of Fullerton who took as his topic, "That Something." His talk centered on that something which makes success of some men and failures of others.

ACTOR EARLY RISER

On the days when he plays the Hyde characterization in Paramount's "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," Fredric March must be at the studio at 5 a. m. in order to achieve the grotesque personality in time to start work at 10 a. m.

PIONEER SCENARIST WORKS

Agnes Christine Johnson, who wrote the screen play for Mary Pickford's "Daddy Long Legs" in years gone by, has been given a Paramount contract to do adaptation with Sam Mintz of "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch."

BABY CONTEST COMES TO END HERE TONIGHT

The final count in the Santa Ana Register-Neely-Fox theaters baby contest will be made tonight at the Fox West Coast theater closes.

All persons who have ballots for contestants must place them in the ballot box in the foyer of the theater today in order to have them counted in the contest.

Official announcement of the winners in order will be made in The Register Monday and the grand prize, $50 in cash, from the Commercial National bank, and other prizes from the Neely Baby department, will be given when the mothers of the winners from the stage of the Fox West Coast theater next Monday night.

SANTA ANA, CALIFORNIA. SATURDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1931

Early October Wedding Interests Many in Community

At the Park Road home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Starr, Miss Dorothy L. Starr and John L. Reish were united in marriage at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, October 4. The single ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Franklin Minck, of the First Christian church, of Orange. In the presence of immediate relatives and close friends. The day was of unusual significance, as it was the 32nd anniversary of the marriage of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Reish.

The charming brunette bride was graduated from Orange union high school with the class of 1931, having recently come to California from Kansas. Mr. Reish, a graduate of the 1927 class, of the Orange high school, is engaged in ranching with his father.

Wedding Vows Spoken In San Bernardino Parsonage

The ceremony which united Miss Hazel Jean Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cray P. Johnson, 1314 North Bristol street, and Robert L. Lancaster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy S. Lancaster, 1428 North Baker street, was a quiet affair of Thursday, October 15. The wedding took place at 6 o'clock in the parsonage of the Rev. Lowell Young, pastor of the First Congregational church of that city.

For the ceremony, the bride, a petite brunette, was attired in a smart suit of cocoa brown wool serge, with a cape effect of brocade cloth. She wore one of the season's popular hats in matching tones, and her other accessories were of the same shade of brown. She was unattended.

The young couple will establish themselves at 303 Hickory street, this city, and will defer their honeymoon until the Christmas holidays, when they plan to visit San Francisco.

The new Mrs. Lancaster is a graduate of Mary Institute for Girls at St. Louis, Mo., and is also a graduate of Stevens college, at Columbia, Mo.

The bridegroom attended Santa Ana high school and junior college, and later attended Oregon State college, where he was a member of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity. Both young people are members of the El Rodeo Riding club of Placencia.

Little Group Shares Pretty Dinner Party

A pretty little dinner party took place this past week when Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd L. Stevens were hosts in their home, 849 North Garvey street. The menu was served early in the evening.

Those present other than Mr. and Mrs. Stevens and their little daughter, Betty-Jeanne, were Mr. and Mrs. Alfred M. Hutchinson, of Pasadena; Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Hutchinson and Miss Opal Brownlow, this city.

Association Outlines Plans for Affairs of the Week

Monday
A special meeting of the Girl Reserve Inter-club council is being called by the president, Miss Katherine Bement for Monday afternoon at 4:15 o'clock. This will be held at the Y. W. C. A. hut on the junior college campus. The president urges that all presidents and inter-club council representatives be present at this meeting, as all final arrangements for the Girl Reserve Golden Jubilee will be made at this time.

The regular meeting of the Poehontas Girl Reserves will be held in room No. 206 at Willard Junior high school on Monday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock. At this meeting, each girl is expected to ninth grade club at Willard Junior proposes using for family night of Jubilee week. The discussion for the afternoon will center on planning a complete dinner for this occasion.

Tuesday
Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock, the regular dinner meeting of the Wrycenda Maedens club will be held at the Y. W. Reservations may be made by calling the Y. W. before Tuesday noon. Miss Nancy Elder, general secretary of the association, will speak on her travels in Europe during the past summer. This will be followed by the second of a series of charm talks by Mrs. F. E. Coulter.

Thursday
The second of a series of informal suppers will be enjoyed by a group of young business girls Thursday evening at 6:30 o'clock. Reservations may be made by calling the Y. W. not later than Thursday noon. Being near the Halloween season, the motif for the evening will be in keeping with that celebration. Any business or college girl in the city will be welcomed at these informal affairs.

Friday
Girl Reserves in the eighth and ninth grade club at Willard Junior high school will have a Halloween party Friday evening, October 23. Miss Margaret Glenn is club advisor.

Saturday
Miss Maude Moore, health education secretary of the Y. W. C. A. will take the members of her swimming and tumbling clubs for a day's outing at Camp Emma Otis Saturday, October 24. The group will leave the Y. W. promptly at 8 o'clock in the morning, and will return in the late afternoon.

Miss Lucille Robinson, Girl Reserve secretary of the Y. W., will attend a Southern California secretary's conference at Mar Casa, Balboa Island, Saturday and Sunday, October 24 and 25. Sessions will open Saturday with a luncheon and will close Sunday afternoon.

The staff and board of directors of the Y. W. C. A. extends an invitation to the public to use the Y. W. C. A. rooms at 105 east Fifth street. The use of the rooms is open to any girl or woman in Santa Ana, whether or not she is a member of the association.

Kitchen and dining room are available; a quiet room is maintained where girls may rest, and the lobby is often used for reading during the noon-day hour.

Gardening Discussed At Ebell Section Meeting

Gardening as interpreted by Mrs. Helen King, of the Los Angeles Times, provided the topic for the program given Thursday afternoon to follow the luncheon enjoyed by members of the Garden section of Ebell society. Hostesses were Mesdames W. L. Salisbury, W. Anderson, J. C. Metzger, Edward Walker and W. W. Kaye.

"Fall Gardens" was the topic chosen by Mrs. King for her talk. Informally, she outlined the requisites of a beautiful garden, stressing the value of correct color harmony. She told of methods of preparing the soil for planting, and of caring for the plants, themselves. She concluded by holding an open forum, and answering many questions for the interested members.

During the short business session which followed the luncheon, and was presided over by the leader, Mrs. W. E. Watkins, reports of the fall flower show were given.

Popular Colors Used At Bridge Party

Employing the popular Halloween colors in her decorations, Mrs. John Gould was hostess at a pleasant affair Wednesday in her home on Ritchey street. Bridge provided the diversion for the afternoon, with prizes for first, second and low scores being awarded to Mrs. Paul Carnahan, Mrs. John Deardorff and Mrs. Leo Luckie.

Dainty refreshments carrying out the black and orange colors, were served at the card table.

COLLEGE COEDS AND PROSPECTIVE BRIDES SHARE HONORS WITH THOSE ALREADY WED

MISS CLAUDE HERR
MISS FAY BUSHARD
MRS. JOHN REISH
MRS. RALPH EGE

Miss Claire Herr, pretty blonde daughter of Mrs. Catherine A. Herr, 606 North Ross street, recently has been chosen president of the freshman class of women at the University of California dental college. Miss Herr is also a pledge to Alpha Kappa Gamma, an honorary sorority for dental women. She was a graduate of the class of 1931 of Santa Ana high school, where she took an active part in school activities, devoting special attention to music.

MISS FAY BUSHARD
When Mrs. L. J. Bushard of Huntington Beach entertained at a pretty luncheon recently, she announced the approaching marriage of her daughter, Miss Fay Bushard to Wilbur Griffin of Midway City. The interesting news was found on the pink and white place-cards included in the pretty table appointments. A little group of the bride-elect's intimate friends was invited to the affair.

MRS. JOHN REISH
Mr. and Mrs. John Reish have returned from a San Francisco honeymoon to establish their home in Villa Park, where the bridegroom is engaged in ranching. Prior to her marriage, a little Sunday, October 4, Mrs. Reish was Miss Dorothy L. Starr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Starr of Park road, Villa Park. It was in the Starr home the quiet ceremony was read. The day was especially significant, as it marked the 32nd wedding anniversary of Mr. Reish's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Reish. Both the bride and bridegroom are graduates of Orange Union High school.

MRS. RALPH EGE
Although the marriage of Miss Margaret Lenora Cubbon to Ralph W. Ege was an event of Saturday, October 3 in Yuma, Ariz., it was not until the following week that friends of the young couple were informed of the romantic news. Announcement of the nuptials was made at a charming party given then ETAO OD OD party given by Mrs. Ethel Boone in her home in Balboa. The new Mr. and Mrs. Ege then enjoyed a honeymoon trip in Southern California, and are now establishing their home in El Centro. The bride is the daughter of Mr. Arthur Spear, of Balboa, and the granddaughter of John Cubbon, of this city.

Following the program, Mrs. Nalle served a dainty refreshment course amid a setting of chrysanthemums and gladioluses in tints of pink. She was assisted by Mrs. Crawford.

Those present included the members, Mesdames Charles Briscoe, Earl Morris, Walter Foster, Charles Fuller, Caleb Jackson, George Bond, Fannie Lash, Harry Havelly and Miss Marjorie Lusk, and guests, Mrs. Eva Halladay, and Mrs. Robert Reed, and daughter Gloria-Agnes, and the hostess, Mrs. Nalle and Mrs. Jennie Crawford.

Mrs. Reed and her daughter are of Albuquerque, N. M., and are guests in the George Bond home.

Flying Needle Club Meets for Luncheon

Mrs. Frank Brown was hostess to members of the Flying Needle club Thursday, greeting them in her home, 924 South Garvey street. The morning was spent in sewing, and luncheon was served at noon in a colorful setting provided by Halloween figures.

The hostess prize of the day was won by Mrs. William Kintz. Part of the afternoon was spent in writing cards to Miss Betty Griffin, who is ill, and Mrs. Clara Morris gave a charming bit of personal experience in her story "Lost in a Great City," and Miss Marjorie Lusk read her story of a country girl who met many illuminating experiences in the city, this was "Ann Broadens Her Horizon."

Mrs. Jennie Crawford, mother of Mrs. Nalle, and a guest, gave a pretty bit of verse which she had written in the east some years ago, and which had been appropriately entitled "Glorious October."

Marriage Ceremony to Be Event of Winter Months

In announcing the approaching marriage of her daughter, Miss Fay Bushard, to Wilbur Griffin of Midway City, Mrs. L. J. Bushard entertained some time ago in her home at Huntington Beach. The announcement was made during the luncheon when place-cards used bore the names of the engaged couple.

Pink and white was the combination used in all appointments of the afternoon with sweet peas and asters contributing the floral decorations. In the bridge games played, Miss Dorothy Hamren held high score and Miss Ethel Hankey, low.

Guests included the honoree, Miss Bushard and Miss Ethel Hankey, Miss Dorothy Hamren, Miss Ruth Hamren, Miss Nella Olson, Miss Martha Wardlaw, Mrs. Dorothy Glaser, Mrs. Fay Talbert and Mrs. Lucille Allair. Both Miss Bushard and Mr. Griffin are graduates of Huntington Beach high school, and Mr. Griffin is employed in the beach city.

Linen Shower Given
Shortly after the announcement, Miss Bushard was complimented at a pretty linen shower given by Mrs. Charles Ward in her home near Huntington Beach. Luncheon was served as a prelude to events of the afternoon.

Guests included Miss Bushard and her mother, Mrs. L. J. Bushard, and Mrs. W. W. Bushard, Mrs. Pearl Jones, Mrs. Gale Bergee, Mrs. Fay Talbert, Mrs. Henry Talbert, and the hostess, Mrs. Ward.

Years of Service Are Honored at Church Reception

Because Dr. George A. Warner is embarking on his fifth year as pastor of the First Methodist church, and Joshua Chipps is beginning his 103rd year of activities on this earth, the two were honored guests at a reception given Friday evening in the social hall of the church. Dr. Warner shared honors with Dr. Warner.

Mrs. E. B. Bruns presided over the evening's program, introducing Dr. Warner, who gave a worthwhile address. A special welcome was extended to new members taken into the church during the time Dr. Warner has been serving, and it was learned that the number joining in this time was 385. Mrs. Warner responded on behalf of these new members.

Mr. Chipps was introduced by S. M. Davis, who presented him with a large birthday cake, prettily decorated. In his talk, Mr. Chipps reviewed the many outstanding events that had taken place during Mr. Chipps' lifetime, announcing that during this time 7,000,000 patents of worth-while inventions have been taken out. Mr. Chipps, it was learned, was born October 16 in New York, and became a church member in his early youth. He has lived in Santa Ana since 1911, having here from Iowa. He was the father of eight children, all of whom have named away.

In responding, Mr. Chipps stated that "if 19 women and men should stand hand in hand, with a space of two feet between them, they would make a chain that would represent years linking directly to the Life of Jesus."

Other numbers on the program included a song by Mrs. Ray Brown, a short talk by Theodore Winbiger, readings by Mrs. Willis de Pre Billips, and piano numbers by Olive Schweitzer. Concluding the affair, members of the Dorcas Society and Ladies' Aid of the church served refreshments.

Country Club Members Enjoy Evening of Bridge

Both auction and contract bridge were played last night at the enjoyable party held in the Santa Ana Country club when directors of the club, together with their wives, were hosts. Bouquets of dahlias and zinnias had been arranged to enhance the attractive club rooms.

In the auction bridge games, Mrs. Don Andrews and Mrs. Hugh Shields held high score for women. Men holding high honors were Fred Leach and Mr. Winslow. Mrs. Herbert Miller was successful in scoring high in the contract group. Refreshments of punch and wafers were served.

Friends Plan Shower Honoring Birthday

In celebrating her 37th birthday anniversary this past week, Mrs. Mary Fehr was assisted by a large group of friends who showed her with many lovely flowers and greeting cards. Mrs. Fehr makes her home with her daughter, Mrs. O. K. Forsy, 24 South Sycamore street, and friends called on her there all during the day.

Friends who planned this informal way of complimenting Mrs. Fehr, kept it a surprise affair. The honoree has made her home in this city for the past three months, coming here from Los Angeles.

Unique Bridge Evening Planned By Members Of B. and P. W.

The lovely home of Mrs. John Tessmann was opened to members of the Business and Professional Women's club last evening, when the hostess group consisting of Miss Dorothy Decker, Miss Genevieve Humiston, Mrs. Marie Fowler, Mrs. Edith Davidson, and Mrs. Tessmann received over 40 members.

The affair was cleverly planned to represent a grand opening of a department store, and was called the Bigly Pigly Whirl using the club initials. Each card table represented a department of the store, and tallies and score pads were in clever harmony. They were tinted and fashioned by Miss Mary Louise Wallace, of the local junior college. Even the invitations, which had been issued earlier in the week, were in keeping with the general theme. They were used in the form of handbills, with coupons in the corners to be used for replies.

Clever table prizes were awarded, while Miss Lula Ott received the grand prize, a dainty boudoir lamp.

Card table covers were then replaced with dainty linens, and menus were presented to all. These were inscribed with delicate linked with the names of some club member. In smocks and matching headresses, waitresses served the menu, consisting of pumpkin pie with whipped cream and coffee. Then each guest was given her meal ticket, and instructed to pay the cashier.

Past Noble Grands Are Guests in Kuhl Home

Mrs. Mary Kuhl was hostess to members of the Past Noble Grands association Thursday, entertaining in her home at 606 Garfield street, with a delectable pot-luck luncheon. The menu was served at the noon hour with the small tables centered with black bowls of lovely roses.

At the business meeting which followed, final plans were made for the card party to be given on the night of November 11. An invitation was extended to all members to bring their friends. The proceeds from the affair will go toward helping the sick.

It was decided to give a turkey dinner at the next regular meeting, which occurs a few days before Thanksgiving, in the home of Mrs. Fanny Lacy, past president of the Rebekah assembly.

Those present were Mesdames Mattie Bowers, Belle Buck, Allie Cain, Ethel Brown, Mary Cooper, Laura James, Ada Spencer, Lucille Rathbone, Blanche Chandler, Janice Turner, Fanny Lacy, Mary Cowley, Jean Tremble, Mary Horst, Maud Lentz, Mary Watkins, Ora Summers, Edna Kinsella, Lottie Lyman, and the hostess, Mrs. Mary Kuhl.

Woman's Forum Meets For Discussions

Members of the Woman's Forum held an interesting meeting this week in the Y. M. C. A., with Mrs. John Clarkson leading the discussion on "The Pronunciation of Words." Mrs. M. M. Holmes was toastmistress.

Mrs. Lyla Northrup gave a talk on "Good Indians" and Dr. Foster Clewiler discussed "Marion."

Responding to a call to the dining room, the boys surrounded a prettily appointed table, centered with a large birthday cake. This was served with ice cream and punch. Several pretty birthday gifts were received by Jimmie.

Those present, other than the honored guest and his brother, Pat, were Edward Scott, Jimmie Heim, Herbert Aikin Jr., Dwight Schroeder and Stewart Gibson.

State's Native Plants Viewed by Women of Buena Park

Thursday was a memorable day for members and guests of the Woman's club of Buena Park, who enjoyed a trip to the Santa Ana Rancho, botanical garden of the native plants of Southern California, belonging to Mrs. Susanna Bixby Bryant. The Rancho, comprising 6000 acres, has the unique history of remaining intact in the hands of only two families, the Yorbas and the Bixbys, for a period of 120 years.

E. R. Johnson escorted members through the gardens, showing them the best of plants which are to play prominent part in future planting. Some of these are manzanita, smoke-tree, wild strawberry, elderberry, various sages, wild lilac, wild holly from Catalina, wild cherry, desert apricot, desert acacia and many others. Thousands of pots made on the ranch were stacked ready for use. The Spanish style home on the grounds is eventually to be used as a museum and reference library for students. The dark room where moving pictures are finished proved of special interest.

In concluding the enjoyable day, the group met in the spacious living room where light refreshments were served by the hostess.

Those in the party were Mrs. L. Wilsey, Mrs. E. W. Thurman, Mrs. Keith Morse, Mrs. Eleanor Jones, Mrs. Dave Lemke, Mrs. W. Walling, Mrs. Henry Fisher, Mrs. Ernest Kinney, Mrs. J. Foster, Mrs. H. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. George Trapp, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Loughboro, Mrs. Dan Marshall, Mrs. Fred Law, Mrs. W. Shaw, Mrs. George Cole, Mrs. Pauline Moore, Mrs. A. T. Riddle, Mrs. J. F. Wager, Mrs. Henry Warren, Mrs. Ed. Marxen, Mrs. C. Albright, Mrs. John Page, Mrs. C. Whittemore and Mrs. J. A. Nicklett.

League of Voters Hear Talk on Reclamation Of Sewage Waters

Members of the League of Women Voters who met yesterday afternoon in the Y. W. C. A. rooms heard a thought-provoking address on "Reclamation of Sewage Waters" by Harold Wahlberg, county farm advisor.

Mr. Wahlberg stated that if reclamation is not considered seriously in this county in a comparatively short time, the land will become barren as it did in Mesopotamia and other far eastern countries where water economy was not practiced.

The speaker showed pictures of the reclamation plants used by Pasadena and other cities, and recommended such a mechanism for this county. He stated that the cost to install such a device would be about $50,000, with additional expense of $500 per day for operation. He added that this county could irrigate 2,500 acres with every 5,000 acre-feet of water wasted through sewage.

Following his talk, Mr. Wahlberg conducted an open forum, answering questions of those present.

Travel Course Offers Talk on South Seas

The travel course offered by the Adult Education class is proving its popularity already, according to those in charge, and will afford many travel talks such as the one to be given Thursday evening at 7 o'clock in the Frances Willard Junior high school. At this time, Captain H. L. Sherman, of Newport and Balboa, will give an illustrated lecture on the "South Seas." This will last until 9 o'clock.

Captain Sherman is expected to travel with him his own collection of pictures and curios which he will show with moving pictures and colored slides of the South Seas. The speaker is a world traveler, and at present is engaged in putting some of his experiences in writing. Anyone interested in attending the meeting is invited to do so.

The meeting held this past week in the junior high school attracted about 150 guests.

Local Group Attends Two-day Convention

The two-day convention of Associated Women students in session at Arrowhead is represented by a little group from this city, including Mrs. Robert Northrope, dean of women at Santa Ana junior college.

Students attending include Miss Hazel Hushman, president of the Associated Women students at Jaycee; Miss Adairuth Ellis, vice-president; Miss Dulcie Green, secretary; Miss Lorna Allen, president of the Women's Athletic association.

ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL

A NEW KIND OF COFFEE

I have a suspicion that my grocer thinks of me in terms of "trying it on the dog" whenever he gets in something new and wants an opinion on whether or not the article has sales appeal. Today he called my attention to a new bottle of coffee essence (can't mention trade names) with its slogan, "A cupful to a cup." An 8-ounce bottle sells for 35 cents and provides from 15 to 20 delicious cups of coffee just for the effort of boiling the water to dilute the essence. Let me make some suggestions about its use:

For coffee making, when you are reducing, use half SKIM milk and half water, bring to a rapid boil, pour from elbow height onto the coffee essence and a lump of sugar. This gives a coffee as creamy as Vienna coffee, and you CAN'T GET FAT ON IT!

A satin-mouth coffee mousse can be made with this new essence: Boil one-half cup of sugar with one-third cup water until it spins a thread. Pour slowly over two stiffly beaten egg whites and beat until cool. Take one cupful of condensed chilled milk which has been boiled in the can for 30 minutes. Whip this milk stiff. Quickly combine the cold frosting with whipped cream, add two capsules of the coffee essence with one teaspoon of vanilla and a pinch of salt. Whip quickly, turn into the freezer pan and freeze without stirring. (Add beaten egg yolks to the frosting part.)

NOTE: I find that better results are had by NOT STIRRING refrigerator mousses or ice creams. Stirring seems to break up the air bubbles and permits freer formation of ice crystals with resultant coarsening of the frozen cream.

TODAY'S RECIPE POUND CAKE

1 pound butter.
1 1/4 pounds pastry flour.
1 pound fine granulated sugar.
1 pound washed and dried currants.
9 eggs, whites separated.
2 ounces candied orange peel.
1/2 ounce candied citron.
1/2 ounce blanched almonds.
1/4 teaspoon each of mace and nutmeg.
Candied cherries may be added if desired.
Use a scale to weigh all ingredients.

Cut the butter into a warmed mixing bowl and cream until it is waxy. Start adding the sugar, creaming it into the butter a little at a time. Next comes the egg yolks, added unbeaten, and a few at a time, whipping after each addition.

Sift flour with the mace and nutmeg, reserve a quarter cupful to flour the washed and dried currants. Work the flour into the creamed mixture, then the currants, candied peels, cut in thin shivers, and the blanched almonds, sliced fine.

Everything is in but the egg whites. Beat them until they stand up in little peaks when the beater is pulled out. Fold into the batter quite thoroughly, but always with a cutting, folding-over motion, that mixes but does not break down air cells in the egg whites.

On this one thing hangs the success of your cake, for the egg whites supply the leavening power in the cake. Don't beat them to death after they are in the batter, but do mix them in thoroughly.

Have small bread tins, oiled and lined with buttered paper, fill each pan two-thirds full and bake in a slow oven for two or 2 1/2 hours. The cake is baked when the edges shrink away from the pan. Store in air-tight jars and let ripen for a month before cutting.

A slice of this cake, a thin one.

SEASONABLE DINNERS—OCTOBER

A stamped, self-addressed envelope mailed to me TODAY will bring you a copy of the October dinner menu, a menu you'll enjoy cooking and serving. Don't fail to get it while it's free, will you.

Au revoir till Monday.

Club Members Receive Dainty Gifts at Bridge Party

A clever use of the current Halloween theme was achieved by Mrs. Carl Wiesseman Thursday, when she entertained members of the Octagon club, in her pretty home, West Seventeenth street. Following the series of bridge games, in place of the usual awards of high score, the hostess presented each member with an unique needle case, fashioned from various shades of felt, in the form of a sunbonnet baby.

When refreshments were served, members found lighted pumpkin faces greeting them from the center of the pretty table. Fortunes were told by symbols hidden in the refreshment course.

The next regular meeting will be held in three weeks, in the home of Mrs. Eugene Thomas of Irvine.

Those present included Mrs. Eugene Thomas of Irvine, and Mrs. Claudine Irvine and Mrs. Charles Hunt of Anaheim, Mrs. F. C. Armin of Santa Ana, and Mrs. Olive R. Ford, Mrs. Ray Johnson, Mrs. Charles Lake, Mrs. Arthur J. Woodworth of Garden Grove, and the hostess, Mrs. Carl Wiesseman.

Covered Dish Dinner Precedes Auxiliary Meeting

Preceding the regular meeting of the American Legion auxiliary held Thursday evening in the Legion hall, retiring and newly-elected officers shared a covered-dish dinner. Including members of their family and other guests, there were 125 in attendance.

The meeting which followed was conducted by Mrs. Dean Collier, who has concluded her term of office and turned the leadership over to Mrs. E. F. Mathews. Mrs. Mathews will be in charge of the next meeting, to be held November 5.

During the evening, plans were made for a Halloween party to take place Saturday, October 31. This will be a costume affair, with the Legion hall as the setting. Mrs. Ann Leimer was appointed chairman of the committee in charge.

It was decided to enter a float in the Armistice Day parade, and committees to make arrangements for the affair are to be appointed at a later date.

Day of Sewing Enjoyed By Group of Friends

A potluck luncheon was shared Thursday by a group of friends who spent the day with Mrs. Ira A. Mercer, 1721 Valencia street. Red carnations provided the floral decorations throughout the home. Sewing occupied the morning and afternoon hours.

Those present, other than the hostess, were Mrs. Lester Archer, Mrs. Marshall Keeler, Mrs. A. H. Taylor, Mrs. John Lacy Taylor, Mrs. Frank Lansdown, Mrs. Warren McCarty and Mrs. Fred Anderson.

ARRIGO BOITO

By RUTH ANDREWS

Arrigo Boito, a contemporary of Verdi, the "king of Italian opera," is now recognized as one of the outstanding Italian composers of the past generation. He is credited with having exerted an especially important influence on the younger school of composers which has sprung up in Italy during the past half century.

Boito's recent death, terminating an inspirational career ever marked by great activity, was mourned not only in musical circles but by artists of every type.

Unusually versatile in all forms of artistic expression, not only did Boito achieve fame during his lifetime as a composer, but in the contrasting fields of poetry, drama and journalism he won equally high repute. His vital personality, keenly artistic temperament and keen intellect made him a wide favorite in cultural circles, where his influence was far reaching.

Born in Padua, February 24, 1842, Boito was fortunate in his home environment as a child. His parents were both artistic, his father an Italian painter of talent, his mother a Polish countess or high social standing.

It is not strange that in such surroundings young Boito's inherent talents found favorable soil for growth. His childhood was divided between music and literature, and by the time he had reached his teens he was writing really creditable poetry.

At 14 Boito entered Milan conservatory and pursued his musical studies there for six years. He received most of his training from Mazzucato, famous Italian teacher and later director of the conservatory, who predicted for the youth a glowing future.

Before he left the conservatory Boito was already composing, his first two works of importance being the cantatas "Il Quarto di Giugino" (1860) and "La Sorella d'Italia" (1862), the latter being written at the time of his graduation.

CURRENT MUSIC NEWS

LAGUNA BEACH

Composer Leaves Beach Town

For some years past a resident of Laguna Beach and musical leader of the art colony there, Anna Priscilla Risher, talented composer, has recently returned to her former home in Los Angeles.

A native of Pittsburgh, Miss Risher is a graduate of the New England Conservatory, where she studied piano, cello and composition. She is a prolific composer of piano music, songs, chamber music, etc., and has 250 published compositions to her credit.

Miss Risher also founded and conducted the Laguna Beach Little Symphony orchestra of 34 players during recent seasons.

POMONA

College Installs New Organ

The Estey organ which is being installed in the new Bridges auditorium at Pomona College is nearly completed. Joseph W. Clokey, head of the organ department of the college, is looking forward with much pleasure to that institution's possession of an instrument which will rank as one of the most notable and probably the largest of the twenty or more four-manual organs in Southern California. It will contain nearly 6000 pipes and a total of 119 stops.

Plans are being made for a dedicatory recital, which probably will be given sometime in November.

SAN FRANCISCO

San Francisco Symphony

San Francisco Symphony opened its twenty-first season on October 2, with Issay Dobrowen conducting the orchestra in the Prelude from "Die Meistersinger," followed by his own concerto for piano and orchestra, with Frances Nash as soloist, while Nathan Abas made his debut as concertmaster.

This makes the 100th concert given by the San Francisco orchestra, since its establishment in 1911, with Henry Hadley as conductor.

Atwater Kent Finals

The state audition of the Atwater Kent music contests will be held over KPO in San Francisco October 25 and 26. The district audition will be held at the Palace hotel there on November 16, with nine Western states to be represented. It will also be broadcast over KPO.

The two contest winners will be sent to New York for the final national audition, to be held in December, when $25,000 in prizes will be awarded.

LOS ANGELES
Anticipate Indian Opera
Chief Yowlache, famous Indian baritone, has been engaged for the lead in the opera "Red Cloud," which will be presented as a part of the program of the Municipalities Light Opera association of Southern California. This opera, which was written by S. Earl Blakeslee, professor of music at Chaffee Junior college, Ontario, has been pronounced by critics as a musical masterpiece.

There are no white characters in the opera "Red Cloud" and it will as far as possible be staged with all-Indian cast of professionals including Tsianina, already under tentative contract; Louchaeny, Hatopi, and possibly Ralph Allen and Chief Capaulcan.

Frank M. Rainger is endeavoring through the proper authorities to obtain a group from the Sherman Institute for the ensemble singers and dancers, to feature in the ceremonial and ritualistic dances.

Plans are rapidly being perfected for the opening of the sixteen weeks of light opera which will be held in the Wilshire-Ebell theatre in Los Angeles. It is expected that the first opera will have its initial production on November 16.

FOREIGN MUSIC NEWS
Music in Germany

Music is a dominant feature of contemporary life in Germany, just as moving pictures are in America. One of Germany's largest musical organizations, the German Federation Choral Societies, now includes 582,000 members, to which the state of Saxony contributes 56,000.

Despite the existing economic depression, Germany's musical activities are being fostered to no small degree by municipal support. There are 20 theaters in Germany which receive annual subsidies of more than a million marks, including Berlin, Dresden, Frankfurt, Cologne, Hanover, Hamburg, Leipzig, Nurnberg, Mannheim and Dusseldorf.

During the past summer, however, the pay of orchestral musicians at German resorts was cut to an average total of $12 to $15 monthly for the individual player!

Berlin, Germany's foremost musical center, has just staged its annual National Music week festival during the past week.

Organize Soviet Opera

In Moscow an "opera of the workers" has recently been organized by the Soviet Fine Arts Department. The new organization will offer a proletarian repertoire and train the proletarian singers and musicians.

Nations Foster Radio Activities

During recent months radio activity in many foreign countries, front in many foreign countries, despite the world wide economic depression. This would seem of vital importance in furthering the current movement for international peace.

Russia is now engaged in an ambitious project of erecting broadcasting stations of 100,000 watt power, while in Rome a 50,000 watt station was recently completed, for the convenience of the Pope in transmitting his messages.

France has important plans now under way for the erection of a broadcasting station which will be capable of reaching her widely scattered colonial possessions in Africa, the East Indies and Asia. During the winter, Rouen, France, plans to broadcast musical courses in 25 schools of the city, giving musical instruction to 8000 pupils.

In London, certain days and hours are now set apart when only contemporary music is performed and certain hours when only English composers are heard. The same is true of broadcasting (of contemporary music and music of their own composers) in the countries of Central Europe and also in Italy and Russia.

During the summer months leading Italian radio stations broadcast more than 30 of the most famous Italian operas for public enjoyment of their countrymen, an undertaking which will be continued during the fall, while the large national opera houses are closed. Various old dramatic works of great historical and cultural significance are being revived and will be included in this program.

Even more important is a plan now under way in Italy involving the introduction of radio receiving sets in 100,000 rural schools of Italy, including the most remote communities, for the purpose of fostering the civil and artistic sentiments of the rising generation of Italians.

In Japan radio broadcasting stresses educational material rather than the lighter forms of entertainment, such as dance music and comic sketches that are so popular here in America. A typical day's program in Japan includes instruction in physical culture, lessons in German and English, current events, lessons in food preparation, considerable discussion of civic and economic problems, with special efforts to deal with the unemployment situation, the day's news and current athletic activities, while programs in both native Japanese and Occidental music are included merely by way of variety.

BOOK REVIEWS

By MARY BURKE KING

Albert Grope, by F. O. Mann, published by the Harcourt, Brace & Co.

"Albert Grope" was the Book League of America selection for September. It is a rather lengthy novel in the Dickens manner—the story of Albert Grope, Cockney born and bred. His father died before he was born. His mother worked as a charwoman to maintain herself and her boy who was a timid, reserved individual, partly because of his mother's gentle upbringing. When he was two and a half he dressed like a girl to look like three and took him to school. At the age of 12 he successfully passed the examinations which permitted him to quit school whenever he wanted. He and his mother were both joyous.

His first job was service boy for a butcher. But when he was not paid at the end of his second week he quit his job. His second job was the beginning of his career. It was with a couple who ran a second hand book shop.

The wife was a silly sort of woman and the husband had become so interested in a box of paints which he found in a lot of second hand books which he purchased that he did not want to do anything other than paint. When they found Albert to be reliable they left their shop to him so that before long he was doing the buying of the stock as well as the selling.

At the book shop he learned some unique things about advertising and when later he went in for himself his advertising cards brought him orders from other merchants for similar business cards. His side line outstripped his second hand book shop, which he later sold.

The story culminates in a nice respectable romance which serves to evaluate more highly love and marriage and the virtuous conduct than has recently been the style in literature.

Spain, Its Story Briefly Told, by Catherine Moran, published by The Stratford company.

"Spain" is one of those books which inspires one to longings for more time—more time in this case to pursue a study of the history of Spain. It is a tumultuous country, its history is involved and loaded with drama.

The book is not 250 pages, yet in that space the author has undertaken to tell the history of Spain from its earliest beginnings to the present day. It requires a most excellent mind and power of resistance to separate bits of history which would be interesting and leave only those essential events which must be included in a brief history.

The book is rather a glossing over of the inquisition and the mistakes of the former King Alfonso. Such being the case, it is disappointing as a history. The excuse, as far as the inquisition is concerned, is stated by Mr. Chesterton in the introduction, that so much has been made of the inquisition in the past that Englishmen know little else about Spain.

Miss Moran, the author, for the past eight years has been governess in the royal household. Nothing at all personal, in this book at least, emerges from her association. As the publishers state, her relationship permitted her access to Spanish archives which made possible her work on this history. The account ends before the conditioned abdication of King Alfonso.

It is unfortunate that Gilbert Chesterton's share in the book was confined to the introduction. Had he collaborated on the book the labors of Miss Moran might have been touched up with a genius which would have made the events of Spanish history more indelible. The book is among the newer ones in the county library.

One Night in Santa Anna, by Thomas Washington-Metcalf. Published by the MacMillan company.

This is a story of romantic adventure. The characters are a genial Irish millionaire, his young wife, the captain of his yacht, who tells the story, a villainous South American politician, and a decadent writer and artist. Love on an ocean yacht and dangerous adventure in a South American city form the plot.

The author has evolved a tale of daring, abduction and murder. It is absorbing.

The Song of Mrs. Aab, by Sarah Gertrude Millin, published by Horace Liveright, Inc.

Mrs. Millin keeps up to her usual good standard, if not improving it, in this her latest book. There is irony, pathos, tragedy and "bad luck" working out in the lives of the characters, who live in the mining town of Sheba, located in the diamond diggings in South Africa.

Mrs. Aab's two sons were Gideon and Hercules, the latter nine years younger than Gideon. Hercules was an idiot. The mother, as has been observed in similar situations before, sacrifices Gideon to Hercules. It is on Hercules that she spends her energy and upon whom she showers her devotion. Gideon is just a tool to help her do for Hercules. Though there are times when she pities Gideon and determines to send the idiot off to an institution so that Gideon may have some opportunity, for they are very poor, she never carries out her resolution.

The father died shortly after Hercules was born and Mrs. Aab supported herself and her two boys at the banian diggings until Gideon had finished at the Sheba school. His mother told him that he must get to work at the diggings and have luck so that he could send Hercules to Europe where doctors might be able to help him. Gideon's friends went away to schools in cities. Only once in all the years did Gideon have luck. He found a diamond on which he realized more than five hundred pounds. But he spent his small fortune in the city before he had been able to establish himself and returned penniless to Sheba and the diamond diggings.

Gideon insured Hercules' life. He had no idea of wronging Hercules. But the doctor had said that the idiot could not live long and Gideon thought if he could realize a sum at the time of Hercules' death he might yet have his chance. It was as though Gideon had found this way for Hercules to recompense him and Gideon was determined to take it. He had no thought of harming Hercules, although he hated him.

The story has power and the study of the characters and the forces working through them makes of it something more than just a story.

Santa Ana Girl Wins Third Award From St. Nicholas

Ruth Elaine Jenkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Jenkins, 824 Towner street, 16-year-old Santa Ana high school student, has just been notified that another of her poems has been accepted for publication in the October issue of the St. Nicholas magazine and a cash prize has been awarded to her.

The poem, entitled "For Edna St. Vincent Millay," is the third that Miss Jenkins has had published in the magazine. She won a silver medal award a year ago and a gold medal about two months ago, for poems which were published in the magazine. Her record is declared to be remarkable by the editorial department of St. Nicholas, in a letter to The Register announcing the award.

The poem follows:

For Edna St. Vincent Millay
By Ruth Elaine Jenkins
Age 16.

(Honor Member, Cash Award)
Speak, speak, cold stones; by what way did she pass?
Along the shore, among pools edged with reeds,
Or by the wild-wood path through fragrant grass,
Following Beauty's train where'er it leads?

Cry out, O leaves—pray, whither did she go—
Or kill me with your silence! Beauty wreathes
Intrinsic trails I must pursue and know.

But let me breathe one breath of life she breathes!

She sees, enmeshing stars in her frail nets,
Love, a pearl moon to clasp stray wisps of hair,
Or some sweet cluster of wood violets
Gathered in trembling hand and kept forever.

Watching far waves I find her, seek her shrine—
She waits for me beside a wild grape-vine.

She waits for me beside a wild grape-vine.

She waits for me beside a wild grape-vine.

She waits for me beside a wild grape-vine.

She waits for me beside a wild grape-vine.

She waits for me beside a wild grape-vine.

Book Notes . . .

Rose Henderson trimmed the first Christmas tree that was ever seen in Death valley for the little Indian children there five years ago.

There, at Furnace Creek ranch, Miss Henderson met the originals of the Five Little Indians about whom she has written in her new book of that title.

"Phantom Fingers" is the eerie title given to J. Jefferson Farjeon's new mystery story announced by the Dial Press to be published this month. J. Book notes from "The Book League of America" contain the following: "We have just received the following letter: 'The girl I am engaged to and I are to be married soon, and as she is also a member of the Book League, we would not want two sets of the same book each month. Should I cancel my subscription? Please advise me.' Not on our advice. Why not cancel the engagement?"

Press reports from England tell us that the Mahatma Gandhi always observes Monday as a day of complete silence, a day devoted to prayer and to the reading of the Hindu epic, the Bhagavad-Gita, or the Song of God. Next to the Bible the Song of God is said to be the greatest of the world's spiritual treasures. It has just been translated into English by Dhan Gopal Mukerji, author of "Caste and Outcast," "The Face of Silence," etc.

I SHALL LIE DOWN
Things that cannot be taken from me
Should my house burn or my income fall,
None of these can overcome me
Who can remember an autumn gale,
Or times when I've seen a grassy meadow
Ripple and shine in the wind and sun,
Or seen a hill-top dark in the shadow,
Or dew on a spider's web just spun,
I shall lie down in my grave of mosses,
Holding fast to my precious store,
Seeing still where the young deer crosses
And leaps the fence in the snow once more.

TO FRANCE
By Ben Field
When the Stars and Stripes went over to France,
Heigh ho for war and far romance!
Over the top with a mask and gun—
They fought for blood and they fought for fun!
But the Stars and Stripes flamed on the way
And spoke for man and a better day.
When the Stars and Stripes went over to France,
A French girl gave it a loving glance,
An Englishman gave it a grim salute
And the flag advanced on its war-torn route;
A hungry Belgian tightened his belt
And the blow was strong he grimly dealt;
A weary Italian lifted his eyes
And crossed himself in glad surprise.
At Chateau Thierry and dim Argonne
Americans died—the flag went on—
The Stars and Stripes met the rising sun
And conquering troops with their fighting done
Knew God was riding with swift romance,
When the Stars and Stripes went over to France.

Girls You Can Win a Beautiful Doll

With Complete Wardrobe

FREE!

Description

This beautiful doll is a wonder, with sleeping eyes, dressed elegantly and is twelve inches tall. A complete wardrobe is supplied, including a real knit sweater, shoes, socks, a white embroidered dress trimmed with lace, and hood to match, rompers with bonnet to match, a wool blanket, baby's rattle, rubber bib with kitten decorations, and sheet rubber pants, all in an ingeniously devised boudoir style cabinet with two compartments in the cover and three removable compartments. The center compartment containing the doll is easily converted into a cradle by inserting the end pieces furnished. Included in the outfit also is a pillow and a ruffled cradle spread. Another remarkable feature is that the contents of the cabinet may be removed and the cabinet used as a little lady's "overnight case." The case is fitted with snap catches and handle.

STORY BY HAI COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

The next thing that the Tinies knew their boat went slowly drifting through the locks which swung wide open. "Now, where do we go?" asked one. "Right down this fine canal we'll ride," the Travel Man replied. "We'll pass a lot of other boats and that should be real fun." They shortly found that he was right. A ship with tall masts came in sight. "That is a sailing vessel," shouted Clowdy. "It's a peach! I've never seen masts quite so tall. Why, you would think that they would fall. If there were any low clouds into them the masts would reach."

Then Scouty said, "I'd like to know what makes that great big vessel go. The sails are down and still it moves along at quite a speed." "It also has an engine, son, and that's what makes the big boat run," replied the friendly Travel Man. "It's powerful. Yes, indeed."

Some smaller boats were shortly met. "That is the best one we've seen yet," exclaimed wee Coppy, pointing to a very pretty yacht. "A fine paint job has just been done that makes it shine beneath the sun. To keep that little ship in trim must cost an awful lot."

A lot of other sights they saw before they docked at Panama. Then, as they went ashore, the Travel Man said, "Now, we'll hike out to a real old part of town where buildings have been toppled down. Just rambling through old ruins is one of the things I like."

Soon all the rest heard Coppy call, "What is that standing up so tall?"

"A very, very ancient tower," replied the Travel Man. "Let's go up closer. Then, no doubt, we'll find what it is all about." They all were interested so right up they promptly ran.

NEWS FROM THE AUTOMOBILE WORLD

DRUNK DRIVERS KILL 1481 IN SEVEN MONTHS

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 17. — (Special)—Records of the California highway patrol revealed today that 1,481 motor accidents involving death or injury were caused by drunken drivers or drunken pedestrians during the first seven months of this year.

Of these accidents 133 resulted in deaths. The other 1,348 ranged from serious accidents that left their victims crippled for life to those of a minor nature.

Of the drivers involved 1,298 were listed as having been intoxicated. There were 188 drunken pedestrians involved.

Physical defects either in drivers or pedestrians resulted in eight deaths and injuries to sixty-four individuals during the period.

The observation has been made by patrol officials that in traffic accidents involving a drunken pedestrian the pedestrian, himself is usually the victim. Where intoxicated drivers are causing the motor vehicle an innocent person is frequently killed while the drunken driver may escape injury entirely. This situation calls for judges to invoke the maximum penalty provisions in the law against the drunken driver. The number of drunken drivers is steadily increasing each month according to the state records.

BIG INCREASE SEEN IN DODGE SALES

Overall retail deliveries of passenger cars and trucks by Dodge Brothers dealers for the four-week period ending August 30 were 183.2 per cent of figures for the corresponding period of 1930, according to a factory statement just received from VanDerZee, general sales manager.

For the 12th consecutive week, it is stated, there has been an increase in weekly overall deliveries as compared to the corresponding seven-day period in 1930. Figures for the week ending September 26th show an increase of 35.3 per cent over records for the same week a year ago.

The smashing success of the new Floating Power Plymouth admittedly is largely, though not entirely, responsible for the progressive showing that is being made by the Dodge dealer body in overall deliveries. Dodge and Plymouth passenger cars, Dodge trucks, school

CASTOR OIL IS IMPORTANT IN MOTOR'S FUEL

To the average motorist, castor oil is something that belongs in the family medicine cabinet. Yet, this common family remedy has come to a great importance in the motoring world, according to the Hunter company, refiners and distributors of Penn-Cas Motor Oil.

Castor oil was one of the first lubricants ever used. It was used in Europe quite extensively from the time of the first automobiles. It was during the World War that aviation engineers, in searching around for a lubricant that would withstand the grueling requirements of the fighting plane, discovered that castor oil stood up much longer and afforded more efficient lubrication than any other type of oil.

A few years before the war, drivers of racing cars experimented with castor oil as a lubricant for their high speed racing motors, and found it superior to any other oil.

Engineers of the Pennant Oil & Grease company worked for many years before they were able to make castor oil practical as a lubricant for the average motorist. Finally, they perfected Penn-Cas Castor Blended Motor Oil, which is a combination of 100 per cent Pure Pennsylvania mineral oil with pure vegetable castor oil. This oil, which incorporates the characteristics of castor oil, offers six definite advantages: 1. It moves toward the heat. 2. It has a higher flash and fire test—thus more protection at high temperatures. 3. It has a tougher film. 4. The surface tension is lower. 5. It is more adhesive. 6. It resists gasoline dilution.

Penn-Cas Castor Blended Motor Oil is available at a rapidly growing number of service stations in Orange county, according to T. S. Hunter, Orange county distributor. It is the same price as ordinary oil, it is stated.

Breaking down the overall figure for the four weeks mentioned, it is noted that the largest increase, as is to be expected, is in Plymouth retail deliveries, figures for August, 1931, being 334.2 per cent of figures for the corresponding four weeks in 1930. Trucks were next in line with 234.2 per cent; Dodge Six and Eight retail deliveries next with 110.3, or a total for passenger car deliveries of 191.5 per cent, making the grand overall total 183.2 per cent.

The smashing success of the new Floating Power Plymouth admittedly is largely, though not entirely, responsible for the progressive showing that is being made by the Dodge dealer body in overall deliveries. Dodge and Plymouth passenger cars, Dodge trucks, school

MORE HARLEYS FOR STATE WORK

Twenty-five new Harley-Davidson motorcycles, making a solid carload, were recently set up and delivered to the shops of the Motor Vehicle Department at San Bernardino by the Rathbun Motorcycle Company of Santa Ana and San Bernardino. The machines were fully equipped to take the road and were painted the regulation white of the state motor vehicle department.

DOCTORS LIKE HUPMOBILE'S STYLE, SERVICE

What governs your family physician in his choice of a motor car? Does he emphasize in the car he uses to call on his patients?

Medical Economics, a magazine devoted to the business side of the medical profession, recently undertook to answer these questions, according to Bob Reddall, general manager for Greer-Robbins, California Hupmobile distributors.

Questionnaires were sent to physicians by the publication. About 500 replies were received and tabulated according to the size of the community where the physicians practiced and by income.

"Hupmobile stood well up in the first classifications," Reddall said. "Among the physicians with larger incomes it was in the preferred group, classing with cars selling at much higher prices. In this group, towns of 5000 to 25,000 in population, original cost and reliability were the two most important qualifications, followed by long life and ease of driving."

"Of interest among the replies to the questionnaire was the statement that more than half of the doctors considered a second or family car as a necessity and that usually the second car was higher priced than that used in his daily practice."

Since 37 per cent of all human impressions come through the eye, Studebaker's president eight state brougham ought to enjoy quite a vogue this fall. For this model has all the beauty and eye appeal that master body craftsmen can build into a motor car, according to Harry Riley, Santa Ana Studebaker dealer.

"Its low-swinging grace is emphasized by sweeping fenders, long hood line, smart radiator treatment, single-bar, center-dip bumpers, and handsome rear quarter design enhanced by chromium Landau braces. Six wire wheels, two in front fender wells, are standard, as well as a trunk fitted with two subcases and a hat box. Non-shattering safety glass is used in windshield and windows. Colors selected for this model are granite gray and cameron heath, with black optional. Upholstery is fine bedford cord."

"Proved championship performance is supplemented by the many outstanding advantages of free wheeling with positive gear control. These include unusually quiet engine operation, in second gear as well as high; a freedom of motion not obtainable in the conventional car; easy, effortless gear shifting between second and high without touching the clutch, and remarkable savings of from 12 to 20 per cent in gas and oil."

"The powerful 122 horsepower engine is the same brilliant straight eight design, which today holds more official American records for speed and endurance than all other makes combined. Dual carburetor and manifold are used. Exceptional smoothness is obtained through the use of a heavy, 9-bearing, doubly-balanced crankshaft fitted with a Lancaster vibration damper of improved type. Engine quietness is enhanced by a carburetor silencer, pioneered by Studebaker, which eliminates 90 per cent of carburetor roar."

hand, if insufficient current is supplied by the generator, the battery becomes discharged, necessitating recharging.

The generator charging rate should be checked each spring and fall to see that it is charging higher in winter and lower in summer. In the winter more current is necessary because of the lights; therefore, the generator must be adjusted accordingly.

The brushes used in generators and starting motors become worn in time and the armatures get coated with dirt and grease. This makes it advisable to have these units gone over every few thousand miles; otherwise they will eventually give trouble.

BEAUTY MARKS STUDEBAKER'S NEW OFFERING

WILLEYS CHIEF SEES CHANGE IN DEPRESSION

When the billions of dollars, which at present are being virtually hoarded and hidden away, are once more turned into the legitimate channels of trade, we will see unemployment steadily shrink to a minimum and abundant prosperity quickly return. This is the opinion expressed in a radio talk by L. A. Miller, president of Willys-Overland, Inc., states M. N. Harmon, Willys and Willys-Knight dealer.

Pointing out that manufacturers in every line are continuing to spend large sums in all forms of advertising to establish confidence on the part of the buying public in the soundness of the country's economic structure, Mr. Miller said:

"When, through individual courage and faith in American industry, the billions of dollars of hoarded and hidden wealth once again are put into the channels of commerce, unemployment will be reduced to a minimum and abundant prosperity will quickly return. Probably there are now in excess of 4,000,000 automobiles that should be replaced, and if this were done over a period of 12 to 18 months, the automobile industry itself would lead the way to a revival of business by tripling employment and that would result in increased values of all kinds—securities, real estate, etc. It would remove once and for all the hazard of confiscatory taxes and questionable legislation."

"Does it not seem that every good and patriotic American citizen should do everything in his power to discourage the hoarding of money? Money has no value except in trade. The hoarding and hiding of wealth creates a serious economic disease that might readily and seriously affect American standards of living and American institutions."

"In 1924 balloon tires were manufactured up to 23 inches rim diameter. Gradually the sizes were reduced and the cross-section increased. To make this smaller size possible, it has been necessary to pay particular attention to producing a uniformly strong cross-section to care for the car weight and speed."

HALF BILLION IN GAS TAXES IN U. S. IN '31

Gasoline taxes provided, in the first six months of 1931, a net revenue of $246,373,000 which is to be used principally for road purposes according to information collected from state authorities by the bureau of public roads of the U. S. department of agriculture. Nearly 7,118,000 gallons were taxed, an increase of 4½ per cent over the same period last year.

Consumption of gasoline increased in 36 states and decreased in 12 states. On the basis of the figures for the half year, it is estimated that the gasoline tax will yield a revenue exceeding a half billion dollars for the full year.

The tax is now imposed in every state. Only eight states increased the rate of tax within the six months' period. Two others made increases effective in July and August.

The total revenue derived was allocated as follows: Construction and maintenance of state highways, $158,332,000 or 64 per cent; for local roads, $48,417,000 or 20 per cent; state and county bond payments, $18,800,000 or 7½ per cent; for city streets, $10,157,000 or 4 per cent, and the remainder of $10,607,000 or 4½ per cent for collection costs and miscellaneous items.

SMALLER TIRE ADDS TO STYLE OF AUTOMOBILE

With the trend in automobiles towards greater beauty of design increasing, there is a corresponding swing towards tires of smaller diameter and larger cross section, says Ed Pagenkopp, of Pagenkopp's Super Service, U. S. tire dealer here.

"Use of the smaller tire, with large cross-section, has added greatly to the appearance of the car safety," said Mr. Pagenkopp. "It has been the aim of the motor car manufacturer to lower the center of gravity, thus permitting greater speed and ease of handling. The smaller tire has done much to assist this trend."

"When the balloon tire first came into general use, car wheels were large and cars were higher and inclined to be top heavy. Introduction of the balloon size permitted a reduction in the size of the wheel and engineers began to center their efforts towards increasing the speed of their cars as well as streamlining them."

"In 1924 balloon tires were manufactured up to 23 inches rim diameter. Gradually the sizes were reduced and the cross-section increased. To make this smaller size possible, it has been necessary to pay particular attention to producing a uniformly strong cross-section to care for the car weight and speed."

Caravan Of Plymouths End Trip

A caravan consisting of two floating Power Plymouths and two models of competing automobiles has just completed a 30,000 mile journey to the four corners of the country. This huge mileage, greater than the distance around the earth at the equator, was made up of four separate trips. It is reported—the first from Detroit to Southern California and return, the second to Oregon and Washington and return, the third to New England and Nova Scotia and return, and the last which has just finished to Miami, Florida and back.

The engineers in charge of the caravan point out that this was simply a part of the general road testing program which Chrysler Motors engineers carry out continuously on all Chrysler-built cars, not only a check on design and production but as one of the principle sources of information and data for constant improvement of the product.

This 30,000 mile trek was made as an ordinary tourist would not, or through the country, it was stated. The competitive cars were used for comparative purposes and detailed records were kept on all four cars, covering gas and oil expense, upkeep, speed, power, comfort, safety, etc. The Plymouths are said to have performed perfectly, just as they did in the many other remarkable tests and runs conducted during the last few weeks.

The arrangement, designed to relieve the courts of that more time may be given to really serious violations of the motor laws, will be made possible by the issuance of "warning cards" to the offending motorist upon which the light adjustment required is noted. These cards inform the motorist that he must have the adjustment made within a given number of days at an official headlight station. After the adjustment is made, the authorized adjuster signs the card and it is mailed to the squad headquarters of the patrol from which the arresting officer is working.

If the card is not received within a reasonable length of time, the officer swears to a complaint and arrests the motorist. He then will be required not only to have the adjustment made to his lights but to appear in court and, possibly, to pay a fine.

A careful "follow up" check of each case will be made by means of information taken down on a stub in the officer's book when the motorist is cited.

NASH LEADING OTHER CARS IN PRICE LIMIT

KENOSHA, Wis., Oct. 17.—Official automobile registration reports for the first seven months in 1931, received by officials of the Nash Motors company today, show Nash leading all other makes of cars with the exception of Chevrolet and Ford in the New Orleans territory. In both Pittsburgh and Milwaukee available registration reports for the month of August show Nash in first place among all cars of its price class.

This indication of the popular demand for the Nash sound-proofed models, with their synchroshift, silent second transmissions and new type of synchro-shift free wheeling, is supplemented by reports showing substantial increases in the deliveries of new cars in the ten leading market centers of the country during the week ending Sept. 7.

In these ten cities the deliveries increased 17.36 per cent over Nash deliveries in the same period a year ago; while in New York, Los Angeles, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, San Francisco, Washington, D. C. and New Orleans the deliveries of new Nash cars during that week were 32.24 per cent over the same period last year.

STANDS OUT from the rest!

PENN-CAS is different from any motor oil you have ever used. It is far more efficient. The reason is this...it is a scientific blend of the highest grade 100% pure Pennsylvania mineral oil and pure vegetable castor oil.

There are six definite reasons why Penn-Cas is a better lubricant: 1. It moves toward the heat. 2. It has a higher flash and fire test...thus more protection at high temperatures. 3. It has a tougher film. 4. The surface tension is lower. 5. It is more adhesive. 6. It resists gasoline dilution.

Get Penn-Cas Castor Blended Motor Oil for your car...get the better performance, the decreased wear on vital parts, the true economy...get that extra performance which Castor lubrication gives you. # A USED CAR IS AS DEPENDABLE AS THE DEALER WHO SELLS IT

You can buy a used car or motor truck as confidently as you buy a new one, if you will observe one basic truth...

A USED CAR IS AS DEPENDABLE AS THE DEALER WHO SELLS IT.

Buy, therefore, from a source you know is dependable. Deal with a dependable Dodge Brothers dealer.

The Dodge dealer in your city is representative of the splendid type of business men who have played a vital part in the rebuilding of Dodge Brothers' world-wide goodwill.

He is a citizen of standing and importance in the community. He has a substantial investment in his business, which he has built up by delivering satisfaction. To protect this investment he must keep right on delivering satisfaction in the future.

Your Dodge dealer knows used cars and he knows used car values. You will find that his prices are right. And you can bank upon the things he says about the car or truck he offers you.

A Dodge dealer will stand firmly back of any car or truck he sells. You will find that his prices are right. And you can bank upon the things he says about the car or truck he offers you.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—(UP)—Railroad shares turned down on the stock exchange today and a rally that had been slowly carried on earlier of issues closed lower.

Volume was small. Traders were cautious about placing commitments over the weekend, although they were not anticipating any bad news.

As a matter of fact some of the opinion of the Interstate Commerce Commission would issue some statement on the railroads' plea for a freight increase over the weekend.

Behavior of the rails, however, apparently belied any expectation of an early favorable announcement.

New York Central dropped sharply as did Atchafalaya. These two issues had been early leaders. The entire rail group followed the principal issues to lower ground in moderate turnover.

Steel Common dropped more than a point on its decline. The leading industrial reacted from their highs, most of them descending below previous closing levels.

MANCHURIA

By Oliver Haskell

Mr. Oliver Haskell who prepared the following article is familiar with the situation in Manchuria. As one of a group of students from Pomona College he lived a year in the Orient during which time each student in the group was assigned a special topic for study. Mr. Haskell's was China, Japan and Russia. (Editor's note.)

What everybody wants to know right now is why the League of Nations doesn't do something about the crisis in Manchuria. In international relations an ounce of prevention is worth a ton of cure. No one should know this better than French Foreign Minister Briand and the seasoned diplomats who sit with him around the horseshoe table in the council room of the League.

And yet, with two of its own members flying at each other's throats in a struggle which has already lasted a month and cost hundreds of lives, the best the League can do is to pass vague resolutions "That the League will surely act to the extent of its powers to bring peace to the Orient."

No one expects a verdict on the right and wrong of the situation. All anyone asks is that Japan and China be held to their pledge, expressly stated in article fourteen of the League covenant, that they will submit their grievances to the League for arbitration, or at least for investigation, before they take any military steps. This is just what China frantically begs and Japan firmly refuses to allow.

Those who remember that at the drafting of the League covenant it was Japan's own representative who proposed an amendment which would have made the arbitration clause more binding, can chuckle again at the burlesque of diplomacy.

But we would still like to know why they are allowed to get away with it. There seem to be three reasons. They don't excuse the League but they at least explain the temporary paralysis.

In the first place, there is hardly a single major Power which is not so busy straightening out affairs at home that it can afford to bother seriously with events on the other side of the globe. With flood and famine spreading misery and ruin throughout central China; with Great Britain's statesmen busy saving their political skins in a hectic general election; with worldwide depression and disorganization turning politicians' hair white; you've got to hand it to the Japanese for picking the right time to start the fireworks.

That this is one of the reasons for the League's snail pace is shown by the fact that a similar crisis between Bulgaria and Greece got quick action out of the same people who now have such a hard time making up their minds. That was nearer home and almost anybody was likely to have gotten his toes stepped on if they had been allowed to fight it out.

It certainly looks as though Japan chose this particular time with a clear purpose. The military invasion of Manchuria is supposed to be as a protest against anti-Japanese agitation in China, and for the purpose of protecting Japanese lives and property. But the Japanese are just as safe in China today as they have been for years, and anti-Japanese agitation is as old as Japanese aggression and big stick policy on the continent of Asia.

It has existed in fact ever since Japan practically annexed Korea, not to mention a dozen other incidents like the affair of Shantung which Japan took away from the Germans during the war, with the avowed purpose of returning it to China, and then held for several years. The shooting of hundreds of Chinese in Tsinan, whether justified or not, hasn't helped brother Wong form any weakness for his first cousin across the Yellow Sea.

The second reason is that the League of Nations is not confident of its power. Even childless bachelor Briand knows, as does every father, that you had better say nothing if you can't back up a threat. In theory the League is provided with the strong arm of blockade for the punishment of its wayward children.

Article sixteen of the League covenant gives it power to call on the signatories to subject the aggressor state to "... the severance of all trade or financial relations, the prohibition of all intercourse between their nationals and the nationals of the covenant breaking state, and the prevention of all financial, commercial or personal intercourse between the nationals of the covenant breaking state and the nationals of any other state, whether a member of the League or not." And they can call out military and naval forces to put it through.

In practice this has never been tried out and there is no telling whether it will work. At least papa would probably like to experiment with some of the smaller children before he tackles the husky Japanese Empire. The League can ill afford to lose prestige.

The last reason for the League's languor is this; some of the wise men at Geneva remember well enough that they too have felt the urge to send concrete reminders to rowdy neighbors that the lives and property of their nationals must be protected. And some of them may have a hunch that history may repeat itself, and that too much meddling from the League might be embarrassing. Dog doesn't eat dog at Geneva any more than anywhere else.

While at Geneva Europe's sages sit inertly watching their fuming Oriental colleagues all but chew up the upholstery, Russia sees another chance to pose as the champion of weak and downtrodden peoples. With Communism already more than a mere problem in China one might think that common sense would make the League move, and move fast.

UNITED STATES SITS IN

The United States has been invited, and has accepted the invitation to take part in the debates of the Council of the League of Nations on the Japanese-Chinese situation.

This is done, as American Consul-General Gilbert at Geneva declared, because of the fact that the United States is a signatory of the Kellogg-Briand Peace Pact. This pact for the outlawry of war, and renouncing war as a method of settling disputes, obligated them to use every effort for the preservation of peace, and against war, and he said that this did not connect the United States in any way with any other relationship under the League covenant.

We do not see how the United States could do anything else, in the light of the Kellogg-Briand Peace Pact, and claim good faith at all in the signature that was placed upon that pact, and by the approval of the United States Senate. This is the first time that one of the "Big Five" has encountered the adverse judgment of the Council of the League of Nations in endeavoring to get what she wants.

If by any process the League is able to avert greater disaster in the Orient, it will have finally vindicated without any further question, its right of existence and its power to accomplish.

The war party of Japan is making very strong statements, General Minami declaring that while he does not know what America's participation may mean, one thing he does know, "and that is that Japan's first fixed policy involving her national existence, as far as Manchuria is concerned, remains absolutely unalterable under the circumstances."

We are inclined to believe that looking to the very same rule of self-preservation, Japan will find some method by which she can change her mind.

Those three flyers who were saved after drifting in the ocean a week demonstrate the moral that a man may be downed but not out.

"A BOOM OR WHAT HAVE YOU?"

The American Federation of Labor has declared for 275 per cent beer, and we notice President Green of the Federation says that it may be that this would be the spark that would set off the boom toward prosperity.

It reminds one of the story of the fellow who said he had 25 or 30 letters to write, and he wished he had a couple of drinks of liquor. His friend asked him why he wanted the liquor, saying "would it help you write the letters?" "No," he said, "it wouldn't help me write the letters, but after I drank the liquor I wouldn't care whether I wrote the letters or not."

While no one, who has studied the question impartially, can think for a moment that alcohol is going to solve the unemployment problem, yet it is entirely possible that when the unemployed can "get shot" with liquor, they wouldn't care so much whether they were employed or not.

The truth is that that was one of the difficulties of the old days. We heard Eugene V. Debs tell a great audience of laboring men that liquor was their greatest enemy, for it did make them indifferent, not only to their own condition, but to the condition of their fellows and their families.

CHANCELLOR BRUENING'S TASK

The German Reichstag gave Chancellor Heinrich Bruening a vote of confidence by a 25 majority and then voted to adjourn until February 23rd.

This gives Chancellor Bruening absolute authority for four months. He has a Herculean task before him,—some say an impossible one. Twenty-five majority in the Reichstag is not a great number, and with a situation existing which offers great opportunity for fomenting trouble, it is a very serious time for the German republic.

It is to be hoped that Bruening will succeed, and any help which can be furnished by other nations will undoubtedly be forthcoming. The world is in a tremendous crisis, and the forces which believe in our present order, or that believe that our present order, with slight changes, can better accomplish the ends of civilization than any other that has been proposed, are looking to Chancellor Bruening and Ramsay MacDonald and such men for leadership in their respective nations.

DISTANCE LENDS ENCHANTMENT

I like to read the tales of wicked pirates,
Who explored the seas in quest of Spanish gold.
I am stirred by the story though it dreadful be, and gory,
Of a ship with captured treasure in her hold.
I can read uncounted volumes of adventure,
But their heroes I should scarcely care to meet,
And I know that I should tremble, should I ever see assemble,
Half a dozen chalkfaced gangsters in the street.

I love to look at pictures of the jungle,
Where the panthers stalk the hunter to his tent,
And there prowl through its environs herds of man-devouring lions,
Every one of which on deadly mischief's bent.
I like to see an elephant awakened
To a hated pitch of man-destroying ire,
But I'd only find enjoyment in this manner of employment
While I read on winter nights, beside a fire.

I never miss the tales of low-browed gunmen
Who adjust disputes with what are known as "rods,"
Men who rove around the city showing not a jot of pity
For the brother crooks with whom they are at odds,
But I read these thrilling stories in the papers,
Which upon the whole, is vastly made discreet
Than to risk my slender person just so I might pen a verse on
Some disquieting adventure I might meet.

I have heard that life on earth would lose its savor
If the sons of Cain all acted as they should;
Fights between the evildoer and his uniformed pursuer
Give a fillip to the mind that does it good.
But I'd rather look at troubles from a distance
Than amid a crowd of warring egos to stand;
I admit that most exciting is the modern style of fighting,
But I'm sure I'd rather view it second-hand.

Uncommon Sense

BY JOHN BLAKE

MAKE YOUR COMPLAINTS TO YOURSELF

If you are the complaining kind, you will do well to remember that people seldom care to hear about other people's troubles.
A rather rough example of this is the story of the prosperous business man who was visited by an old school friend with a long hard luck story.
After the business man had listened for half an hour to the recital of lost jobs, misfortunes and imminent danger of the poorhouse, he called in the porter and said to him:
"Put this man out; he is breaking my heart."
The only person who can be depended upon to be interested in your troubles, and who will be likely to want to do something to alleviate them, is yourself.
You, therefore, are the proper repository for your hard luck stories.
Tell them to yourself. Maybe, after a while you will be awakened to a realization of their seriousness, and make an effort to bring about a more satisfactory state of affairs.

But don't weary your friends with them.
Remember that they have troubles of their own. Maybe, in return for your painful confidences, they will begin to tell these troubles to you, and you won't like that at all.

The only person who has enough interest in you to devote the major part of his thought and effort to helping you out, is you.
And if you, instead of feeling sorry for yourself and shedding tears of self-pity, will just analyze your difficulties and find out what is to be done, maybe you will do it, and then you won't have any more grievances.

But remember that everybody else, particularly just now, considers himself out of luck and an object of sympathy.
Bill, who a couple of years ago thought he had mastered a system of playing the market and was making so much money that he looked forward to retirement, has found that he wasn't so clever a financier as he fancied, and is hunting for a job that will pay him the bare necessities of life.

Bob, who was the ranking man to the president of a corporation, has been let out because the president has found it necessary to do all the work himself.

Johnnie, who had such a good business that he thought he was fixed for life, has waked up to the fact that it was only a good business in good times, and that in bad times it is a bad business.

Don't go to them for help. You won't find them in. They will be out looking for other people to help them.

As a matter of fact there are very few people who are interested in much of anything but themselves and their families, and they can't be bothered with supplications for assistance or appeals for sympathy.

So let them alone. Your case is of real interest to one man alone, and you know who that is.

You may have many complaints to make, some of them just. But, as I said in the beginning, the only person you can trust to listen to them and to make an effort to cure them, is you.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

THE MACHINE AS SAVIOR

Technological advance is heading us straight for not more than a four-hour day and a wage markedly above existing scales.
Political-social reform cannot materially shorten the worker's day or markedly increase the worker's pay until technological advance makes such moves good business.
And this is happening!

The fact that a morning paper brings to our table the announcement of a 10 per cent reduction in wages by a major American industry does not alter the soundness of this assertion.

I do not pretend to predict what the managerial forces of the economic order will do.

I am here stating only what the technological forces of the machine order are making possible and profitable, if the managerial forces of the economic order will bring the capacity and courage of statesmen to the exploitation of these potentialities.

The machine may bring us to the threshold of a social millennium, but we may lack the wit to unlock the door.

But events are playing into the hands of the kind of leadership that will take advantage of the possibility of shorter days and higher wages that technological advance is making possible, despite the delusion that seems to contradict the contention. It is fast becoming so clear that he who runs may read that, unless economic leadership fully exploits the possibility of a radically shorter day and a radically increased income for the working masses, we shall face the prospect of a permanent stalling of our economic machine.

If and when economics plays the game squarely and intelligently with technology, we shall see a day short enough, a leisure long enough, and an income big enough to compensate the creative worker for whatever spiritual disadvantages a machine economy may have over a handicraft economy.

If the factory worker were doomed to long hours and low pay, he might justifiably look with envy on the independence of the peasants and the versatile activities of the village shopkeepers of the days before the machine.

But the machine is making it possible, if economic leadership will use and not betray the machine, for the work of the world to be done in a few hours a day, with time to spare in which mankind can answer the cry of his spirit in ventures beyond bread-winning.

OUR CHILDREN

BY ANGELO PATRI

DUTY AND PLEASURE

It is possible to make duty a pleasure. I say this because it is the custom of some people, parents and teachers in particular, to feel that unless a task is difficult the child gets no benefit from it. The old idea that pain is the price of power holds too firmly. Pain enough there will always be but there are some things that can be done without it. When that happens we ought to rejoice and congratulate the child.

"What? You haven't done your lessons already?"

"Yes, I have. It does not take me very long. They are easy."

"Well, if they are as easy as all that I think the teacher ought to give you something harder to do."

"You can't get ahead if you don't work."

"But I do work, mother."

"You can't tell me you work. Here you are finished with your lessons and it is only half after seven. You didn't work more than forty minutes."

This was a bright child. He needed no home work, really, but the teacher assigned it to him to give him something to do and please his mother. He was doing his duty but because it brought no pain his mother feared he was slighting it.

"I'll have to go over to Sunday school to see what is the matter."

"John Joseph has gone without saying a word, actually in a hurry to get there, these last three Sundays. Maybe he isn't going at all. Something must be wrong, or he wouldn't be so cheerful about going." Such is the faith we have in our institutions. John Joseph happened on a fine Sunday school teacher and discovered a reason for Sunday school. And why not? "What's your answer, Jimmie? How did you get it? Well, you must put down every step. I can't help what you say. You can't do an example like that in your head. Write it down and show me every step. You are getting off too easy."

"I wish Willie would take life more seriously. Meet him where you will, he is always smiling. I've never seen him look troubled in my life except the few times he cried when he got hurt. He isn't anxious about getting ahead. I do wish he would be a little bit more serious."

It is possible to do good work and like it. It is possible to do one's whole duty to a job and still have time to play. It is possible to enjoy doing one's duty. It really is not a sin to be happy. Children ought to be happy. When they are unhappy something is wrong. Their work may be too hard for them, they may be ill. They may be doing something that is not their duty.

Even a duty which was difficult in the beginning becomes a pleasure when one executes it with promptness and skill. It is rightness to be happy. Duty can be pleasant.

ON THE SIDELINES

Which may or may not be in accord with the views of The Register

By Horace McPhee

THE REAL GHANDI. Every once in a while a westerner succeeds in interpreting the east to other westerners. It is so often difficult for the western mind to comprehend the eastern viewpoint that when this happens it is worthy of note. Romain Rolland has achieved such a success in his book "Mahatma Gandhi, The Man Who Became One With the Universal Being."

Although published in 1924 this book is only recently coming into its own in the United States, where Gandhi and his doctrine are becoming more widely known all the time.

Perhaps Gandhi's voice coming so many thousands of miles over the air, not long ago, reaching to England to California, has made the casual reader more anxious to find out about the man whose voice he listened to.

At any rate librarians are receiving calls for books on Gandhi, and one of the most popular, and deservedly so, is Romain Rolland's treatise.

In a most systematic study of the man who desires "Swaraj," home rule for India, but who says, "Our object is friendship with the whole world, non-violence has come to men and it will remain. It is the announcement of peace on earth."

It is especially interesting to a westerner to read that in reply to an English Clergyman's question in 1920 as to what book had influenced him most Gandhi replied, "The New Testament." Also Gandhi stated that in the New Testament he really found the doctrine of passive resistance. Romain Rolland has done an excellent piece of work in giving one such an excellent understanding of Gandhi, his character and aims. It is a work that we would recommend to any reader.

YE CAREFUL COP—He was new on the San Francisco police force and it was his first night "on beat." He had been given a lot of instructions as to the proper course to pursue in certain contingencies and, as a faithful cop should, endeavored to remember and obey them.

A drug store was held up on the night in question and the officer was quickly at the scene of action. He listened with much interest to the story told by the druggist of two men who had held him up and subsequently made their escape. As they left no clues the only thing for the officer to do was to make a careful and full report of the occurrence.

He did this only to discover that he had forgotten to take the name of the robbers' victim. Back he went to the drug store only to find it closed.

But, happy thought? He could and he did take the name from the front window. So his report closed with the paragraph:

"Facts of the robbery were given me by: Apothecary Deuter, Parais Francois. Se Habla Espanol."

THE EXPLANATION.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13. — Again the "Big Train" will lead the Washington Senators in their drive next year for the American league flag.

President Clark Griffith of the Senators announced today that Walter Johnson, his former hurler and for the last three years manager, will remain as pilot next year.

An agreement covering one year was reached at a conference today—(Press Dispatch).

And so this Orange county boy goes on for another year! He is a fine fellow is Walter Johnson, and how he does stay with the game! The only explanation this column has to offer for Walter's many years of faithful and successful service is that he found that which Ponce de Leon was looking for a good many years ago.
